The only reminder that a lake once existed on this almost dry piece of land is a sign forbidding any fishing. South Florida's worst drought has almost completely dried this portion of an Everglades canal and lake once bustling with airboats and canoes. (UPI)

House Sends Gov. Hearnes Bill on Sunday Liquor Sale

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House today passed and sent to Gov. Warren E. Hearnes a bill that would permit the sale of liquor by the drink on Sundays in bar-restaurants. The Senate-passed bill squeaked through the House on an 84-63 vote.

Reports from inside the governor's office have indicated he would sign such a bill because it would help Missouri's convention business.

There was no discussion as the bill was brought up at the start of the day's session. But sponsors were a little excited because members were slow to come in and vote.

The voting board was held open until sponsors were convinced enough affirmative votes had been accumulated.

To qualify for Sunday sale of liquor by the drink a bar-restaurant would have to show that at least 50 per cent of its income came from the sale of food. If the governor signs the bill it will become effective Sept. 30.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a sharply revised bill providing new procedures for handling cases of children or juveniles accused of crimes of violence.

Under it children of 14 or more or juveniles may be tried as adults if the judge of the juvenile court agrees. Each juvenile must be taken before the juvenile court as soon as possible.

Any statement he makes to a juvenile officer cannot be used in adult criminal court but if he makes a statement to a law enforcement officer when a parent, friend, lawyer or juvenile officer is present that statement is admissible in adult court.

The crimes for which he may be certified for adult court include murder, forcible rape, assault with intent to kill and assault with a deadly weapon.

Also sent to the Senate was a bill to tighten the law on candidate expenses.

A candidate would have to report the contributions and expenses of his own and all those of committees working in his behalf. In the past candidates have been reporting the contributions to themselves and their expenditures but have not reported the fiscal accounting of the committees working for them.

The sponsors said the proposed law would prevent the buying of public office and give relatively poor persons as much chance as wealthy ones.

Other bills sent to the Senate would:

Eliminate the $1 price tag on admission to the state fair in Sedalia. It carries an emergency clause so that if passed by the Senate and signed by the governor higher admission prices can be set for the state fair this August.

Require daily reports to the legislature and the state comptroller of all revenues collected by the State Department of Revenue.

Provide for the licensing and regulation of automobile manufacturers and dealers.

Increase the premium tax on workmen's compensation insurance in order to increase the second injury fund.

Require that the revenue from the first 18 cents of the St. Louis County road and bridge tax be rebated to the county's cities, on assurance that the revenue will be used for streets and bridges.

Tuesday, the House advanced a more strict bill on air pollution before becoming involved in a generally unproductive night session.

Under the air pollution bill members of the Air Conservation Commission would have to come from the general public and not from any industry that might be a source of pollution.

Decisions of the commission could be appealed to the courts, but the courts instead of hearing new evidence would review evidence of the commission hearing.

The House also advanced a bill establishing a division of solid waste management to draft and enforce regulations on the disposal of junk and scrap.

Senate

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Senate today passed and sent to the House a measure giving not-for-profit farm organizations an exemption from anti-trust laws the same as farm cooperatives.

The bill would allow the National Farmers Organization in Missouri to enter into collective bargaining as well as to enjoy certain tax advantages with its new status.

The Senate also passed and sent to the House a bill requiring the supervisor of liquor control to issue liquor permits to salesmen legalizing the present practice.

Earlier the Senate debated and finally passed the House changes in joint rules governing the session.

The Senate Judiciary Committee gave its approval Tuesday to a proposed constitutional amendment to allow pari-mutuel betting on horse racing in Missouri.

The constitutional change, familiar to every legislative session for years, got some revisions from the resolution passed by the House earlier, and was approved by the committee on a 7-3 vote late Tuesday.

The House version included games of chance to give religious, civic and fraternal groups authority to conduct bingo, lottery and other minor money games.

Delay Revival Hopes For Transport Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders have put off until today an attempt to resurrect the controversial supersonic transport after 10 of the plane's supporters left town before Tuesday's planned showdown.

Proponents of federal financing for the faster-than-sound passenger liner figured they had a 50-50 or better chance Tuesday to win House approval for the craft just eight weeks after it was beaten 215-204.

But political rallies in Philadelphia and South Carolina drew some supporters away from the Capitol and pro-SST leaders were certain they would lose again, so the vote was rescheduled for today.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said he was confident House resurrection of the SST would have won had the vote come before 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Rep. Brock Adams, Democrat from Seattle where the Boeing Co. is dismantling the SST program, said one analysis indicated House revival would have won early in the afternoon by two votes.

But Democratic and Republican leaders put off the vote after a quick huddle because Ford said "ten sure votes" had to leave town for activities, including the Democratic functions in Philadelphia and South Carolina.

Should the plane win new life in the House, it would still face another Senate test. SST opponents knocked money for the craft out of the Transportation Department budget 51-46 in March.

The House' leading SST foe, Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., said the plane's House backers obviously believed they had the votes to win and he was contacting every opponent to get a maximum "no" vote.

"We probably won't know until the vote," Yates said, "what our strength is."

Boeing began laying off 7,000 SST workers and dismantling and packing more than 13,000 SST parts and tools after Congress cut off federal funds effective last March 30. But the company reportedly was prepared to put the program back together if funding could be arranged.

Easements Nearly Complete

Buy More Airport Lands

By MIKE CULLEN
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

The Sedalia Airport Board received a letter from its newly hired attorney, Robert F. Wesner, regarding air easement rights over the Brown Oil Co.'s station on East Highway 50 which virtually "wrapped up the entire packet of land and air easements needed north of U.S. Highway 50," the board announced at its meeting Tuesday evening.

Certain land and air easements had to be purchased by the board before the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) could approve plans to expand Sedalia's Memorial Airport.

These plans call for a new north-south runway which would be 4,800 feet long and could handle small jets.

An application for matching funds from the FAA has been compiled by Wright and Associates, an engineering firm from Springfield, and the airport board. According to Dr. Holmes Wilbur, board chairman, the application was sent to the FAA regional office at Kansas City at the end of April but it may be 90 days before a decision will be reached on the matter, he said.

If approved, about $700,000 in federal funds would be available for the construction and the expansion program and would be used in addition to the $790,000 obtained through a bond issue passed by Sedalia voters in 1968.

It was also pointed out that the board has received 892 pledges from local, area and national businesses for jet operations. The FAA stipulates that 300 jet operations annually have to be pledged before funds for a larger runway could be approved. An operation is either a landing or a take-off.

Board member Louis Tempel asked what could be done to improve Trans-Mo Airlines' air-taxi service for Sedalia. Tempel pointed out that a passenger was not able to get on a flight out of Sedalia recently due to unexpected complications.

In the discussion that followed it was pointed out that some of the pilots for the air-taxi service do not even bother to monitor the Sedalia airport, and consequently cannot be contacted from the ground. Also pointed out was the fact that there seems to be some indifference on the pilots' part toward landing at the airport.

It was decided by the board that the airport managers, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Lane, should keep an accurate account of the number of passengers who could not obtain plane service due to lack of space, pilots' indifference to landing at the airport or inability to communicate with Trans-Mo pilots.

No action has yet been taken on a proposal to install mercury vapor lights at the airport to increase security. Dr. Wilbur pointed out that nothing could be done until the Missouri Public Service Co. settles its wage dispute.

The board also announced it had received word from the FAA regional office in Kansas City Tuesday that a direct communication unit will be installed at the airport and will be maintained by the FAA.

The board voted to make the necessary arrangements to house the unit which is expected to be installed within the next four to six weeks.

The new unit will provide a direct link to Columbia, and will be used for clearances, flight patterns and weather briefings.

Previously, Sedalia was served in this capacity by a unit operated by Whiteman AFB, but due to recent problems, such as communication failures and inaccessibility to that service, the FAA allowed the unit to be installed at Sedalia. Whiteman could also turn off their unit, which served air traffic in this area, at any time. Dale Lane, airport manager, hinted that one reason the move was made by the FAA was due to a four-week period recently during which the unit was not operating.

In other action, the board decided to advertise for bids for the removal of a half-mile row of hedge trees on the airport grounds.

The board also appointed Tempel to contact two landowners from whom restrictive easements were purchased and ask that fences be moved to new boundary lines.

In final action, the board decided to call a special meeting within the next two weeks for the purpose of preparing the 1971-72 budget. It was not announced when the meeting would be held.

Hodgson Proposing Delay on Wage Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson proposed today a one-year delay in raising the minimum wage to $2.00 in order to ease inflationary pressure and the risk of higher unemployment.

Presenting the administration's long delayed response to proposals in Congress for an increase in the current $1.60 minimum wage, Hodgson told a House labor subcommittee too rapid a step-up could have serious effects on both employment and inflation.

A bill now before the subcommittee would raise the minimum to $1.80 next January and to $2.00 on January 1, 1973. Hodgson endorsed the increase to $1.80, but said the jump to $2.00 should be delayed until Jan. 1, 1974.

In his testimony, Hodgson said the basic difference in the two programs is that the minimum wage covers all workers while the welfare reform plan deals only with families.

Hodgson also:

—Opposed the Democratic proposal to extend minimum wage coverage to state and local employes, saying it would "impinge unduly upon the federal system of our nation."

—Recommended a cut-rate wage floor of $1.60 an hour for students under 20 and anyone under 18, to promote youthful employment.

—Asked moderated minimum wage increases for farm workers and employes in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

He said increasing the overall hourly wage floor to $2 in 1973 would have a bad effect on inflation and unemployment.

"In order to ameliorate the effects of this wage increase, many employers affected could well adopt ways of producing their product or service that would reduce the number of persons employed," he said.

"Some small businesses might give up altogether. Others might be deterred from starting up."

BULLETIN

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Sen. Donald Manford, D-Kansas City, told the Missouri Senate today his appropriations committee had to recommend sharp cuts in Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' $1.7 billion budget because "the economy is in a serious slump."

As the Senate opened debate on the bills, Manford emphasized the state's best economic indicator, the sales tax, is running about $22 million behind last year, even though faster processing has increased income tax revenue greatly this month.

Desegregation Issue Hearing Date Is Set

The federal government has set May 26 as the date for a civil rights hearing on charges of segregation in Sedalia School District 200, it was revealed Tuesday night by Dr. T. J. Norris, superintendent of schools.

The hearing will be held in the Federal Office Building in Kansas City, and the board will be represented by Norris and attorney William F. Brown.

Dr. Norris said the hearing would probably last several days, and if additional witnesses were needed from the school system they would be contacted after the opening session.

The school board also decided to study a proposed package plan offered by Home Insurance Company to consolidate all of the school system's policies under one reduced premium plan.

Board members Mrs. Jean Hausam and Dr. C. W. Monsees were named to an insurance committee which will meet with assistant superintendent Richard Kimball and report their recommendations on the proposed insurance plan to the board Friday.

At present the school is covered by several policies with different companies.

The board approved the continuation of the summer recreation program for one more year with the provision that a study would be made during this time to determine the program's value.

Dr. Norris noted that participation in the program in recent years had been far below the expected level. Calvary Episcopal Church, which helped fund the program last year, has reported that it will discontinue support.

The board also passed a measure allowing the hiring of an auditor for a two-year term. In the past the board has selected an auditor on an annual basis. Shirley Wagner is the present auditor, and is serving her second year in that capacity.

Dr. Norris was authorized by the board to hire the needed personnel to operate the Title I summer program this year. The program, which is funded by the federal government, is designed to help underprivileged children.

The opening dates for the program are June 7 for the elementary schools and June 14 for Smith-Cotton High School. The extra week in the elementary program is to allow for a camping trip to Camp Zoe in Southeast Missouri. This will give underprivileged youngsters an experience in outdoor skills and sports at no cost to themselves.

Dr. Norris told the board that 68 students had enrolled in the summer driver's training program and his request to hire two full time instructors was granted.

In other business, the board appointed Mrs. Jane Dugan, Dr. Chester Kirkpatrick and Mack Kell Jr., to a building committee.

The board burned bonds which had been paid off this year and also decided to pay the student stage crew when the school year ends.

The board accepted the list of Smith-Cotton High School graduates approved by principal Earl Finley.

The board also accepted the resignations of three instructors, William T. Markee, Mrs. Betsy Wiley and Mrs. Fern Trautman.

After 53 Year Delay

Sedalian Finally Receives Purple Heart

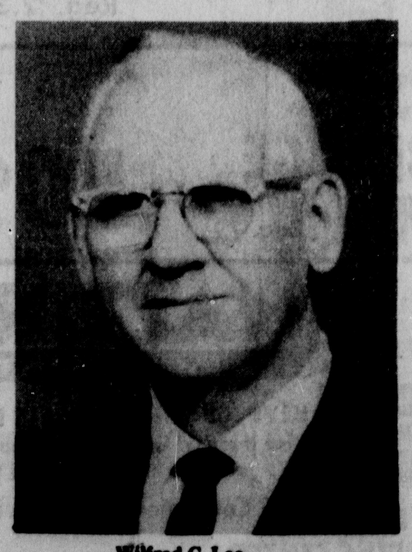

It sometimes takes a long time for the U.S. Army to correct a mistake — even 53 years in the case of World War I veteran Wilfred C. Lee, 2314 South Kentucky.

Lee was wounded on the first day of the Allied drive in France at St. M'' iel on Sept. 12, 1918. Because a sniper's bullet shattered his canteen and sent 300 aluminum splinters into his forearm, Lee spent six months in an Army Hospital and has been receiving his disability pension since 1918.

One thing the Army forgot, however, was the purple heart medal. Generally when a soldier is wounded in combat he gets this citation pretty promptly. But not in Lee's case. Somehow, in the mass of military red tape, his medal escaped him.

Only through the long efforts of Brig. Gen. Lewis M. Means (ret.), Fayette, and Sen. Stuart Symington will the honor catch up with Lee. Means was a second lieutenant in Company G with Lee during World War I.

Presentation of Lee's purple heart will be made at a noon luncheon Thursday at the Holiday Inn here. The luncheon will also reunite other World War I veterans of the 89th Infantry Division, nicknamed the Midwest Division.

Wilfred C. Lee
...finally recognized

Lee described his company as one of the most honored and hardest fighting of the war. "In my company alone there were 100 casualties," he said. Lee said on Armistice Day in 1918, only one officer and 19 men answered muster in Company G.

Lee said he had been a first sergeant at the time he was wounded and had not seen much front line combat. "When I was in the unit, we had not been to the front lines, but served as a reserve unit in a supposedly quiet area," he said.

Lee had had some experience on patrols in no man's land, however, and one such trek resulted in his nomination to Officer's Candidate School.

Talking about one experience while on patrol, Lee smiled and said it was humorous now, but not then. "We were out in no man's land, you know, between the enemy and our own lines. We were headed toward their lines for some reconnaissance work and we had to go up to their barbed wire with a blanket and tin snippers.

"Well, I was walking along and just put my foot down ... and I'll be darned if my foot just didn't sink into a covey of quail. I must have jumped a foot and we thought sure the Germans must have heard all the commotion. Fortunately they didn't and we completed our mission even though we had to cut it kind of short," Lee said.

Lee, after the war, was a farmer, school teacher and later worked for the Missouri Public Service Co. He retired in 1959.

Even though the Army was a little slow in recognizing his combat wound, Lee got recognition from President Woodrow Wilson just after his discharge. Lee said the scroll sent to him was called an "accolade of honor," and was granted for meritorious service and mentioned that he was wounded in action and bore the signature of President Wilson.

Reading Machines Big Educational Aid

By GEORGE CORNELL
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — In their teens, they still couldn't read. They were lost in this wordy world until they met Ruth Stallman and her battery of cool, unflappable "teachers." They do their coaching privately. They're machines.

"Nobody laughs at you if you make a mistake," said Diane Batista, 13, who has progressed amazingly from a fourth-grade reading level to a seventh-grade equivalent in three months. "The machine just lets you go back and do it over."

"It gives all its attention to you," said Dennis O'Neil, 15, whose reading has advanced double time under tutelage of the special sight-and-sound devices. "It's your own teacher—and it doesn't holler at you."

That calmly dependable, individualized quality of the machines, coupled with the supportive warmth of Mrs. Stallman, makes for the educational magic happening on Manhattan's East Side.

It's called a "reading laboratory," a project in New York City Junior High School No. 167, financed through state funding to try to redeem virtually illiterate teen-agers thrown behind by troubled, impoverished environments.

The laboratory, a second-floor room, decorated with pictures and maxims about the wonder of learning, is rimmed on two sides with individually partitioned booths, each with earphones, screens and teaching machines.

Michael McDermott, 16, absorbed in a story about a kangaroo that kicked a horse, which was being projected on a "controlled reader" screen that showed only a few words at a time in a lighted, moving frame, said:

"The machines talk to you. They put words in your mind and you have to go along as fast as the machine goes. In a book, you just stop. But the machines keep you going."

Besides the eight "controlled reader" stalls, which train eye movements as well as word comprehension, the center has an array of other technological tutors, including:

—The "listening station," where a tape-recorded "instructor" discusses grammar with a puzzled mock student called "Charlie" while real students listen by earphone and pencil in their own solutions, which the voice later checks with them.

—The "and-X" machine, which tells urban-oriented tales and then projects word pictures combined with taped questions about phonetics, while students fill in blanks in their workbooks.

—The "tachistoscope," which flashes quick word images to be written and checked.

"At first, I thought all this apparatus was just another gimmick," Mrs. Stallman said. "But when I saw it worked, I had to believe in it."

In 12 years work in remedial reading, she said "we'd never really found the means to do the job, but Geronimo, now we're finally getting somewhere."

She said older approaches generally upgraded about 15 per cent of the students, but the machine success rate is more than 60 per cent.

Part of the explanation, she said, is that the youngsters can work out of their own reading weaknesses without distraction or embarrassment in front of others.

"In a classroom situation, they're ashamed to try, but here they can work and nobody knows how anyone else is doing," she said. "Each is in his own private little world with his machine. It's beautiful."

She merely monitors the process, keeps tapes and films adjusted to student progress, and generally plays "psychologist and mother to them all."

"These youngsters are bright, but no one ever bothered to tell them so," she said. "I let them know they're great, and that gives the will to be what they are—great."

Reading By Machine

Mrs. Ruth Stallman supervises a session in the reading laboratory at New York City Junior High School No. 167. Working with her and the "aud-x" machine are her pupils, from left, Jesse James, Norma Ramos, Sharmon Knight and Dennis O'Neil. Reading machines have been found to be highly effective for adolescents with reading problems. The New York school's project has become a demonstration lab for other schools, and about 400 other schools throughout the U.S. have started laboratories of their own. (AP)

Boy's Club Option For School Building

Morris Byrum, chairman of a steering committee for the Sedalia Boy's Club, told The Democrat-Capital Tuesday that the organization had taken an option on St. Patrick's School, 400 East Fourth, for the purpose of establishing a community center.

Byrum said he could not elaborate on how the club will be able to buy the school, but said the organization was trying to acquire matching funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Byrum explained that funds might be granted under a neighborhood facility grant on a two-to-one basis. "If the grant is approved by HUD, the federal government would supply two-thirds of the grant and the club would have to raise the other one-third," he said.

The facility, according to Byrum, would be especially slanted toward the needs of low and moderate income groups. "We plan to be able to see to the needs of organizations serving the aged, the blind, and the handicapped first, and later on a space-available basis we might allow some civic groups to use the facility," he said.

Byrum said he could not name at this point the groups that might be using the building. "I can tell you that the Boy's Club will be in the building if the grant goes through, and we plan to have a full-time director to run it," Byrum said.

He said that the Boy's Club would probably conduct a fund drive to raise the necessary money to match a federal grant if approval is given by HUD.

Byrum said that extensive remodeling would probably be required if the go-ahead is granted on the project. Initially, according to Byrum, 15 organizations would probably be using the building once it is opened.

"This whole facility is planned to provide civic and social opportunities to members of certain income groups so they will have things a little easier," he said.

Thursday Deadline In Strike

(Democrat-Capital Service)

JEFFERSON CITY — A heated pre-hearing conference on final arbitration of the four-months-old strike against Missouri Public Service Co., resulted in two officials being ousted from the meeting here Tuesday.

William R. Clark, Missouri Public Service Commission chairman, ordered the state Board of Mediation representative, Daniel Rogers, and the MPSC general counsel, Jeremiah D. Finnegan, out of the room.

He instructed the company and the union "to get together" before Thursday. They have until 2 p.m. that day to settle their differences, he said.

Both parties in the dispute have agreed to binding arbitration by the commission. Tuesday Clark decided that the union and company representatives should meet alone because the union had presented the PSC with "a different set of issues" than what the Board of Mediation assigned to the PSC for arbitration earlier.

The mediation board approved submitting the controversy to the commission when it concluded the matter could not be settled by negotiation or mediation.

Clark said, "Folks are worn out with this four-month strike. I have people calling me and telling me about streets torn up and it is time these people get back to work."

He said the commission would have no part of the dispute until the two parties reached an agreement on the issues to be brought before the commission.

The commission will hear the case Thursday and make a final determination on the percentage of hourly wage increases for MPSC employes. About 50 workers are on strike in the Sedalia area.

Partisan Deadlock Is Broken

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The partisan deadlock in the commission to redistrict the Missouri House was broken today with a Republican becoming chairman.

The chairman is Richard Howe of Canalou, Mo. Vice-chairman is Hal E. Hunter Jr., New Madrid Democrat, and secretary is R. J. Slater of St. Louis County, a Republican.

Reorganization of the commission, after a month and a half of deadlock, now will permit it to go ahead with the task of realigning the 163 House districts in line with the shifts in population as shown by the 1970 federal census. Word for commission members was that the positions were filled by acclamation.

Earlier, the Democrats were adamant about having a member of their party as chairman. The Republicans offered to share the position by electing co-chairmen or even to flip a coin for the top spot. But the Democrats refused.

The commission is composed of 10 Democrats and 10 Republicans. They were chosen from party panels by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes Feb. 10.

They have until July 1 to finish the redistricting job. If they fail the task will be turned over to the six commissioners of the State Supreme Court.

Body Uncovered After 28 Years

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The body of Thomas McNamara, an airman shot down over New Guinea in World War II, has been found, relatives reported Tuesday.

The body was found in the wreckage of a Liberator bomber that crashed Dec. 1, 1943 in a thick jungle. Nine other bodies were found in the plane.

McNamara was a staff sergeant and gunner. He was 27 when reported missing. His mother, Mrs. Rose McNamara, lives in St. Louis. The family said positive identification was made through dental work.

Negative Attitude By Voters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

School bond issues and school levy increases encountered rough going in special elections Tuesday.

Voters rejected levy increases at Joplin and in the North Kansas City district, a bond proposal fell short in the Park Hill District, and West Plains voters defeated a proposed two mill city park tax levy.

But at least one affirmative vote was noted at Smithville where a $160,000 school construction bond proposal was passed, 269 to 47.

Joplin's proposed 24 cent levy increase lost by four votes, 2,826 to 2,822. Only a simple majority was needed. The proposal was defeated by more than 500 votes in April.

Park Hill, a district in Platte County that serves Parkville and a portion of Kansas City north, for the third time failed to muster the needed two-thirds majority to pass a $2,350,000 construction bond issue.

The operating levy loss in North Kansas City was the first recorded in the district. The proposed 75 cent increase, which would have gone entirely for teacher salaries, got only 56 per cent approval, 3,810 to 2,982 while it needed two-thirds.

Camdenton Collision Injures 22

LINN CREEK, Mo. (AP) — One person was critically injured and at least 21 others hurt Tuesday afternoon when a car and a school bus collided on U.S. 54 at Linn Creek near Camdenton.

Four persons were taken to St. John's hospital in Springfield where one was reported critical, two seriously injured and the fourth in satisfactory condition.

In critical condition is Christine Brawner of Camdenton. She was a passenger in a car driven by Darrena Arnall, 17, also of Camdenton, who is in satisfactory condition.

The passengers in the Arnall car who were seriously hurt are Lawrence Sandelson of Osage Beach and Linda Ray of Camdenton.

The highway patrol said the school bus, driven by James F. Hedrick, 67, of Montreal, Mo., pulled off a side road into the path of the Arnall car. The bus was knocked on its side.

Six ambulances, along with Camdenton county sheriff's cars and highway patrol vehicles helped take the injured to Camdenton. There nurses from the nearby school and a health clinic helped three doctors at the Camdenton Medical Center treat the rash of injured.

A spokesman said there were both elementary and high school students on the bus, and more may have suffered minor injuries but not sought treatment.

APTS TO RENT

DALLAS (AP) — There are more apartments vacant now than at any time since 1964, says Devane Clarke, president of the Texas Apartment Association. He blames overproduction and the present state of the economy.

Police Report

Oscar Reusch, an employe of the Automatic Vending Co., 208 East Third, reported to police at 2 p.m. Tuesday that a company truck was stolen from the 100 block of West Second.

The truck was recovered in the 300 Block of South Hancock about an hour later by Sedalia police. An undetermined amount of money and cigarettes were reported missing.

F. M. Ream, 1503 South Stewart, reported to police at 6:39 p.m. Tuesday that a .22 caliber rifle and a .410 gauge shotgun had been taken from his pickup truck while it was parked in front of his residence. The guns were valued at $35.

William E. Rucker, 608 East 17th, reported to police at 9:10 p.m. Tuesday that a stereo tape player, valued at $60, had been stolen from his car while it was parked in the 100 block on East Fifth. Apparently entry was gained by using a knife or a wire on the front door lock.

Police recovered a stolen Ford truck just over one hour after it was reported missing Tuesday afternoon by Oscar Reusch, an employe of the Automatic Vending Co., 208 East Third.

The truck was reported missing at 2 p.m. Merchandise and some cash were taken from the truck. It was recovered in the 100 block on West Second.

Wilson Carriage, 317 East Johnson, reported to police at 12:29 a.m. Wednesday that a power lawnmower, valued at $60, had been stolen from his front porch overnight.

Steven R. Eck, 3210 South Kentucky, reported to police at 2:10 p.m. Tuesday that an electric guitar, a .22 rifle and a stereo tape deck, valued at $254, had been taken from his car.

Police Court

F. D. Thomas, 316 North Hill, driving while intoxicated, continued.

Morris K. Byrum Jr., 2436 West First Street Terrace, running a stop sign, forfeited $10.

Jackie E. Miller, Route 4, speeding, forfeited $10.

Charles A. Willes, 211 East Clay, speeding, forfeited $15.

George V. Wolfe, 315 North Prospect, disorderly conduct, dismissed.

Sheriff's Report

Sheriff Emmett Fairfax told The Democrat-Capital Wednesday that the Brown Oil Co. service station at Highway 50 and West Main had been broken into overnight and an undetermined amount of money taken.

Fairfax said entry to the building was apparently gained through a window.

Jess Walthall, owner of the Brown Oil Co., said that a complete inventory of the money or other items that may have been taken has not been completed as yet.

Computers Necessary —Morris

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Lt. Gov. William S. Morris of Missouri told a conference of regulatory agencies today the use of computers is necessary to improve the effectiveness of regulation.

In a speech at the Regulatory Informations Systems Conference conducted by the Missouri Public Service Commission, Morris said computers are essential if such commissions are to fulfill their responsibilities in the future.

"The commissions, as well as other government agencies, must recognize that the computer is a valuable tool, an asset that can be judged not exclusively in monetary terms, but in terms of its effect on good government," he said.

Morris said the purpose of computerized operations was not to harass the utilities but to insure "that both the consumer and the company benefit from adequate regulation, up-to-date regulation, modern regulation."

The commissions must begin to take the initiative in this area, he said, or they will fall behind the utilities that incorporate computers in their operations.

The three-day conference is open to regulatory commissions, utilities, consulting firms and educational institutions throughout the country.

American Bombers On Target

SAIGON (AP) — Striking in two waves, U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom jets destroyed 13 antiaircraft guns around the Mu Gia pass in North Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced today.

The command said the Phantoms attacked the antiaircraft sites after receiving fire from North Vietnamese guns while over Laos. None of the U.S. planes was damaged, the command said.

The command in a delayed report said the strikes took place Monday afternoon, a day after a North Vietnamese MIG21 jet attacked a small American observation plane over the Plain of Jars in northern Laos.

A command spokesman, Maj. Charles Johnson, said the strikes Monday were against antiaircraft positions 75 miles north of the demilitarized zone and two miles inside North Vietnam from the Laotian border.

The 13 guns knocked out were the most reported destroyed in one day by U.S. pilots since the halt in bombing of the North Nov. 1, 1968.

The U.S. Command said three 57mm guns were knocked out in the first strike—an attack by two Phantoms at about 6 p.m. Monday.

About 45 minutes later, three more Phantoms attacked the cluster of gun positions around the Mug Gia pass and destroyed five 57mm guns and five 37mm guns, the command said.

The U.S. Command described the Phantom attacks as "protective reaction" strikes, the 36th so far this year against North Vietnamese positions that either fire on U.S. planes or threaten to fire. The Phantom jets were flying interdiction missions over Laos when they received fire from 85mm guns, the command said.

"Upon attacking the gun positions," the command said, "they (Phantoms) were fired upon by a combination of 37mm and 57mm antiaircraft artillery fire."

There was no claim by the command of knocking out the larger 85mm guns or any mention of missiles fired.

With the attack against the U.S. observation plane, North Vietnamese MIG's extended their opration to the Plain of Jars to harass U.S. planes supporting Laotian government forces.

The U.S. Command said in a delayed report today that a MIG21 made two firing passes at a small American observation plane over the Plain of Jars Sunday while a second MIG circled overhead.

It was the first MIG attack reported in more than a year and the first reported so deep inside Laos against U.S. aircraft supporting Laotian forces.

The pilot of the U.S. Superskymaster said he felt two explosions to his right rear, observed two large white airbursts, and saw one explosion to his upper right about 50 yards away.

A U.S. communique said the little American plane was not damaged. However, reliable sources in Vientiane, the Laotian capital, said one wing was damaged, but the pilot made it back to his base. The pilot was not identified.

U.S. fighter-bombers were sent up from a base in Thailand but when they reached the area the two MIGs had disappeared.

A spokesman for the U.S. Command, Maj. Charles Johnson, said the American plane was unarmed and he did not know its mission. Such planes are usually used to mark targets for fighter-bombers. They are also used for visual and photo reconnaissance.

The Superskymaster flies at 200 miles an hour; the MIG21 can do 1,325 m.p.h.

North Vietnamese MIGs have been appearing with increasing frequency along the Laotian border, apparently to harass U.S. planes bombing the Ho Chi Minh trail. But none previously attacked, according to military spokesmen. The last U.S. aircraft shot down by a MIG was a Jolly Green Giant rescue helicopter downed on Jan. 28, 1970, along the border between Laos and North Vietnam.

In other war developments:

Two U.S. troops were killed and three were wounded in a clash with 15 North Vietnamese 2½ miles southeast of Khe Sanh. Six of the enemy were reported killed.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported fights on the eastern edge of the A Shau Valley, south of Da Nang, and on the Mekong River inside Cambodia about 100 miles west of Saigon. A communique said a total of 44 North Vietnamese and 10 government troops were killed and 12 government troops were wounded.

Creative Films Shown at Meeting

A program on creative films was shown by Doug Freed, art instructor at State Fair Community College, at the weekly meeting of the Noon Optimist Club Tuesday at the Bothwell Hotel.

The films had been produced and filmed by art departments at various colleges and universities and all had won awards in college competition. Karl Koch, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Marvin Welch gave the invocation and Fred Biggs, president, presided at the business meeting.

America Is Blamed For Crisis

LONDON (AP) — Most European money men blamed the United States for the current monetary crisis in Europe today, charging that Europe is now having to pay the price for the "dollar sickness" and "mounting isolationism" in America.

There were warnings of worse to come unless Washington pulled its balance of payments out of the red.

One Austrian newspaper declared: "The Western currency systems in their current form can only recover if either the United States takes care of its balance of payments or a worldwide balancing of all currencies takes place."

West Germany, one of the loudest accusers of the United States for the current crisis, also came in for some criticism from its European partners for its monetary policies.

It was West Germany's decision Sunday to float the mark that triggered the wave of anxiety throughout Europe.

The French attitude, long critical of the United States, as expressed by Finance Minister Giscard d'Estaing, is that the problem lies with the continuing U.S. balance of payments deficit and not with Europe. The French believe the dollar is overvalued and that the price of gold should be hiked above the present $35 an ounce.

A leading Swiss banker, who declined to be identified put it another way: "Europe has to foot the bill for Vietnam and other American political disasters. The dollar has won again in the latest crisis."

The consensus in West Germany is that Washington is the bad boy in the crisis. It was primarily German concern of inflation that prompted Bonn to let the mark find its own level. This brought revaluation of the Swiss and Austrian currencies.

The influential newspaper Die Welt declared: "The United States feels it is the fixed center of the international monetary system, toward which other currencies . . . have to orient themselves.

"The Americans interpret the statutes of the international monetary system as assigning a passive role to the dollar."

Early trading on foreign exchanges was moderate as the third day of currency transactions began after they shut down last Wednesday to halt the massive influx of dollars.

In light trading the dollar declined to 3.565 marks at Frankfurt after opening at 3.5675. It closed at 3.57 marks Tuesday.

Treatment Center Expansion Planned

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Veterans Administration is planning expansion of its drug treatment center in Topeka and a new facility at St. Louis for treatment of returning Vietnam veterans.

The step was announced in Kansas City Tuesday by Donald E. Johnson, VA administrator from Washington.

Speaking on the subject of drugs in Vietnam, Johnson said "the availability is great, the potency is high and the price is cheap."

Johnson said the defense department is placing a high priority on cutting off GI drug supplies in Vietnam.

Israelis Cross Border

BEIRUT (AP) — An Israeli force crossed the Lebanese border Tuesday morning and bulldozed a road for military operations some 500 yards inside Lebanon, the Beirut newspaper Al Liwaa reported today.

The report said Israeli army engineers cut the road near Ramia Village in a three-hour operation as a link with other dirt roads the Israelis have built inside Lebanon since the 1967 war. The Israelis cross the border periodically and use the roads to search for Palestine guerrillas.

Al Liwaa said that while the engineers worked, a 12-man patrol, two halftracks and two helicopters guarded the operation. The soldiers set up roadblocks and searched passersby, then pulled back under cover of intensive machine-gun fire directed at nearby villages, the reports said.

No casualties were reported.

In the Gaza Strip, meanwhile, grenade explosions injured six Arab workers riding in a civilian bus, the Israeli military command said. Two grenades were thrown at the bus near the El Bureij refugee camp.

Another grenade was thrown at an Israeli army patrol near another refugee camp in the strip but wounded a 9-year-old Arab girl.

New Hospital Administrator Is Appointed

(Democrat-Capital Service)

SWEET SPRINGS — The Sweet Springs Community Hospital board of trustees met Tuesday night and appointed F. C. Dohrman administrator of the hospital.

The board also discussed salary increases for all hospital employes and will complete its plans at a special meeting next Tuesday.

In another meeting here Tuesday, the Community Betterment Club outlined questions to be asked in a community attitude survey during the next few weeks.

The survey will cover three areas: attitude, shoppers and teen-agers.

High Point District Sets Meeting Date

A special meeting of residents in the unannexed portion of High Point School District will be held at the school at 8 p.m. Friday.

According to Mrs. K. E. Anderson, clerk of the school, the meeting will be held to determine the future of the remainder of the district.

"We have to decide what to do with these children," Mrs. Anderson said. "It's very important that we get a solid representation and everyone's view on this."

A portion of the district became part of Sedalia School District 200 after voters in the city approved an annexation proposal in last April's election.

Once Prosperous Rock Festivals Have Wilted

By JOEL DREYFUSS
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The flower that bloomed at Woodstock has wilted.

Two years ago, 400,000 rock fans jammed an Upstate New York alfalfa field in a massive demonstration of love and peace as a way of life.

But now, disillusionment with the rock scene has spread far and wide. Rock performers have turned money mad. The deaths of some prominent rock stars and the ecology movement's call for purity have turned many young people off drugs, and the music itself is undergoing drastic alterations.

The announcement by rock impresario Bill Graham recently that he would close his two emporia of live music, Fillmore East in New York and Fillmore West in San Francisco, was seen as heralding an end of an era in rock.

The groups who once were willing to brave the rain and mud of Woodstock to play, had turned, Graham said, into highly structured corporations demanding higher and higher payments for their services.

Top bands, like the Jefferson Airplane and Sly and the Family Stone, command high fees as high as $50,000 for a single night's performance, and, Graham charged, income has taken a precedence over music.

Woodstock was in many ways the beginning of an era, an assertion by American youth that they had their own culture and their own way of celebrating.

Woodstock was the end also, because no matter what its success was, the myth it created could never be matched by the reality of any successor.

The next major festival in Altamont, Calif., was a free concert offered by the Rolling Stones. Members of the Hell's Angeles motorcycle gang were hired to keep the crowd under control and before the evening was over one youth was dead.

While Altamont may have been taken as a warning, the attractions of the outdoor concert especially when compared to the smaller incomes provided by indoor performances, were too obvious to the big time artist.

"He'd rather play the one concert with 20,000 people and spend the other three days resting on his yacht," Graham complained.

The year of the rock fest was 1970:

Love Valley, Goose Lake, Strawberry Fields, Powder Fields, Powder Ridge, Buffalo Party Convention and Roast, Beaufort Water Festival ...

However, only 18 of 48 major festivals scheduled came off, according to Jon Northland, assistant editor of the rock weekly, Rolling Stone.

"The major reason is political," he said. "The day after the festival is announced, the city council and police come up with some emergency ordinance that makes it impossible to hold it."

Promoters also discovered that there were financial problems. The performers wanted more. Radical groups asked for a cut. The fans felt they were being exploited and that music should be free.

Don Friedman watched his Randall's Island Festival in New York City crumble under pressure from radicals until the doors were finally thrown open to the public.

"The love, peace thing of Woodstock has gone out," Friedman said. "It's been replaced by anarchy, complete total anarchy."

The only type of site left in which crowds can be controlled are the sports arenas, like Madison Square Garden.

Promoters can jam 21,000 youths into the Garden, and because of this, groups prefer to play there, despite the poor amplification.

In the last year or so, major upheavals wracked the rock music scene. The Beatles, who dominated the music of the 1960s split and squabbled over their fortune.

Within days of each other, singer Janis Joplin and guitarist Jimi Hendrix died, of apparent drug overdoses.

In the meantime, a new musical style emerged to challenge rock. The ear-splitting roar of 10,000 watts of amplification have begun to give way to the soft strum of nylon guitar strings.

"Country-style" bands like The Band, soft-voice singers like James Taylor, vocal groups like Crosby Stills Nash and Young have come on the scene.

Farm Roundup

Land Value Increases But 'Boom' Has Slowed

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm land still is increasing in value nationally but at a snail's pace compared with the boom of the mid-1960s, the Agriculture Department says.

The Economic Research Service said Tuesday in one of its farm real estate survey reports that the total value of the nation's farm land was $213.9 billion on March 1, compared with $208.9 billion a year earlier.

That meant an average price of $199 per acre, a 3 per cent boost from $193 a year earlier. Earlier this year the ERS reported a similar 3 per cent increase for the year ended last Nov. 1.

Along with the Nov. 1 gain, the 3 per cent increase reported for the March 1 year was the smallest since 1961, officials said. Gains of 6 per cent annually were reported 1967-68.

The national averages, however, do not indicate some of the wide variations in farm real estate markets in different areas.

Price changes for the plains states and those extending westward were reported at or below the national average gain. The sharpest declines were reported in Kansas and Arizona, each down 3 per cent from a year earlier.

"Market values of farm land east of the plains are more dependent on nonfarm activity," the report said. "Values in the west are more closely related to potential use of land in agriculture."

Generally, the report added, more farms are being offered for sale than a year ago but buyers are not as plentiful.

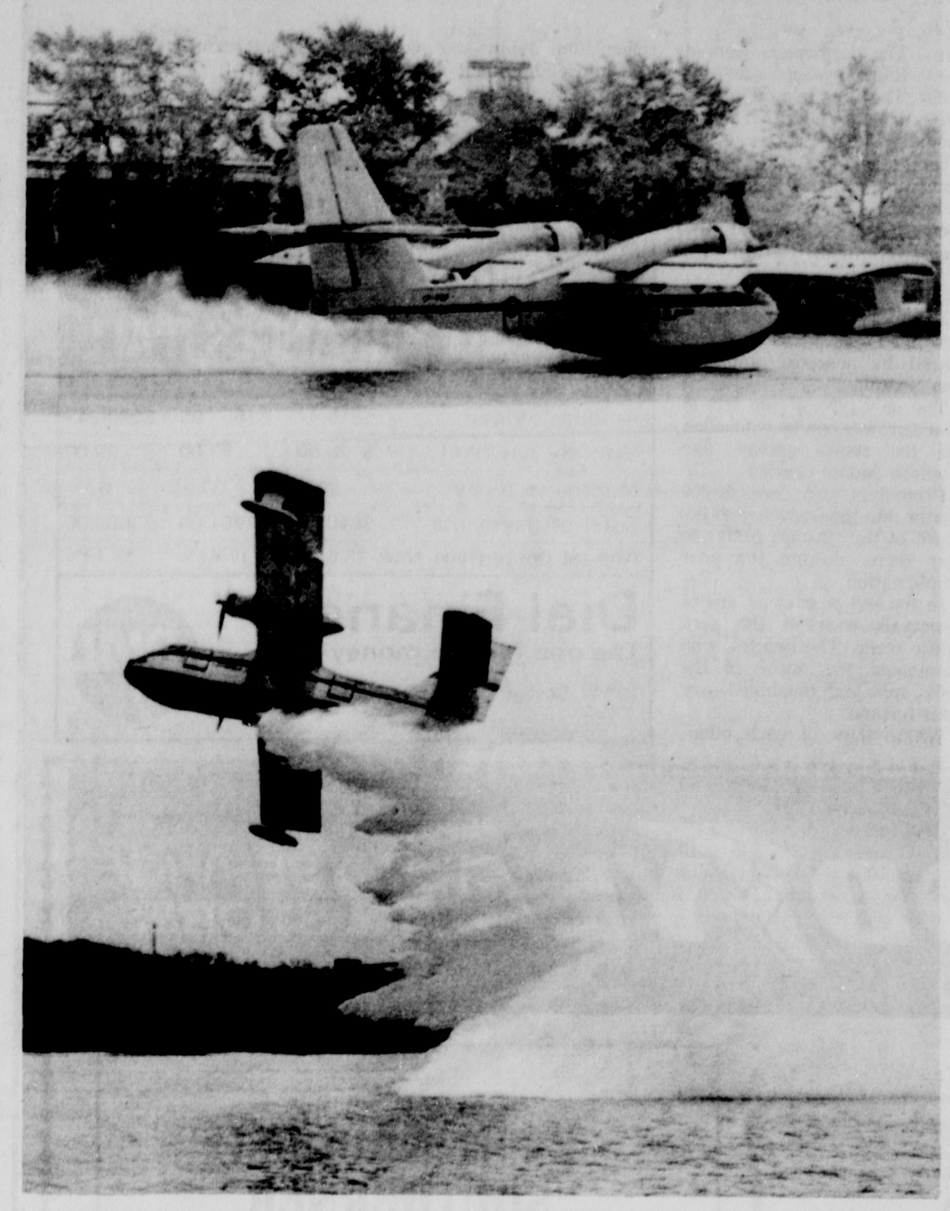

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Farmers Union has asked Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin to cancel a decision announced last December that 1970-crop soybeans stored on farms will not be eligible for "reseal" under government price support programs.

Tony T. Dechant, NFU president, said in a statement that it appears there are ample soybeans available to meet demands until the 1971 crop is harvested.

"Therefore, the forcing of the soybeans under loan into the market will weaken prices to producers and weaken farm income," Dechant said.

The department said in December that "market demand for soybeans continues to be strong" and that farmers were expected to profit by being able to redeem their beans from the loan program and sell them on the cash market.

Under reseal, a farmer continues to store commodities after they become the property of the government upon maturity of price support loans. He then is paid rental by the government for storage of the crop.

Sydney's Aversion Therapy

By IAN MCCAUSLAND
Associated Press Writer

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Sydney is a gambling-happy city in a gambling-prone state where it's estimated $1.79 billion is fed into slot machines every year. Psychiatrists have developed a shock treatment to make addicts shun the one-armed bandits.

"It's called aversion therapy," said Dr. Karl Koller, who introducted the unit to St. George's Hospital. "The player begins to associate playing the machine with pain and keeps away from them.

"We decided to give this a try when the usual psychiatric method and pills didn't work. We believe the success rate to be around 60 per cent."

"Pokies," as slot machines are called here, keep most of the big clubs in funds in New South Wales, the only state in Australia where they are legal. Last year income to the non-profit clubs was $143 million after a state tax cut of $34 million. On average every man, woman and child in the state loses $31 to the machines in a year.

The people who help boost this figure and who seek help at the hospital initially regard the treatment as a joke. They are led to a slot machine, given "play" coins, and asked to specify how severe a shock they wish. Most start at 20 volts and when they find this has little effect ask for 90 volts.

"Patients pick their own level of pain," said Koller. "Some are reduced to tears by the end of a treatment."

Patients do not know when the shocks will come. The average is 30-40 shocks during an hour's session.

A course involves an hour's treatment on five consecutive days. This is followed with one-session visits one and two months later.

Earthquake Hits Turkish Villages

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — At least 58 persons were killed and hundreds injured this morning in a powerful earthquake that struck the town of Burdur and surrounding villages in southern Turkey.

The governor of Burdur Province, Esref Ayhan, said 18 deaths had been confirmed in Burdur and 20 each in two nearby villages.

He said 70 per cent of the buildings in Burdur, a town of 30,000 people, had been destroyed. Ayhan also had reports of entire villages collapsing in outlying areas which had not been contacted yet.

Instanbul's Kandilli Observatory registered the quake at 8 on the Richter scale, signifying it was of great violence. The Los Angeles quake in February registered between 6 and 6.5.

Housing Minister Sellahattin Baburoglu dispatched relief supplies and a mobile hospital to the city 225 miles southwest of Ankara.

Ayhan said the local hospitals were cleared of noncritical patients and were rapidly filling with injured from the quake.

Troops were sent to dig for victims in stricken villages.

The housing minister said he and the ministers of interior and village affairs were flying to the earthquake area.

Turkey has been struck by killer earthquakes each year since 1966. In March 1970, a quake killed 1,089 persons and destroyed the town of Gediz in western Turkey.

The quakes take place along the Anatolian Fault, that starts around Burdur, ranges north along the Aegean coast and east along the Black Sea, then plunges south again in the eastern mountains.

Return To Moberly For Omar Bradley

MOBERLY, Mo. (AP) — Moberly's most famous citizen, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, 78, returned home Tuesday to the town that he said taught him "the values by which I have tried to live."

More than 600 attended a dinner honoring Bradley.

Governor Warren E. Hearnes had designated the day as "General Omar N. Bradley Day."

The general praised his welcome, saying he liked it better than the ones he saw last week during the antiwar rallies in Washington.

Bradley said self government was not a luxury, but a sterner challenge than any other system in the world.

"A democracy such as ours cannot be defeated," he said, "it can only lose through default."

American flags lined Moberly's main street and, by coincidence, one of the town's two movie theaters was showing the film "Patton," the Academy award winning film for which Bradley was a special adviser and in which he was portrayed by actor Karl Malden.

Bradley was accompanied by his wife, Kitty, for their first trip back to Moberly since 1966.

Jury Will Begin Murder Trial Talk

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — The first degree murder trial of Andrew Leroy Hill, 26, accused in the death last Nov. 4 of Bruce Douglas, is expected to go to the jury late today or Thursday morning.

Both sides rested Tuesday afternoon, following an emotional appearance by Hill, who testified that a series of events had left him upset the day of the shooting.

Used 'Hot Line'

Johnson: Russians Ready For '67 Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson says Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin used the hot line during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war to warn that Moscow was prepared to take military action if necessary.

The warning came on the morning of June 10 after the forces of Soviet-supported President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and other Arab armies had suffered extensive defeats.

Johnson said he responded by ordering the U.S. 6th Fleet closer to the Syrian coast as a "signal that the United States of America and its government was prepared for the situation that would confront it if it were confronted."

"This was a very tense moment," Johnson recalled during an interview filmed in Austin, Tex., for the CBS-TV "60 Minutes" program shown Tuesday night. The tension eased later the same day when a cease-fire was reached.

The Kosygin message was not the first time the hot line was used during the 1967 war. Qualified U.S. officials reported at the time that Kosygin first messaged Johnson on June 5, the morning the fighting broke out.

Kosygin suggested on June 5 that the United States and the Soviet Union work together to ensure peace and said the Soviet Union did not want war in the Middle East, according to reports at the time.

Johnson said in the television interview that he received word on the morning of the 10th "that Mr. Kosygin desires the President to come to the equipment."

In that message, "Kosygin said that they had reached a very crucial decision, that they were prepared to do what was necessary including using the military," Johnson recalled.

"He (Kosygin) mentioned the words 'grave catastrophe.' He mentioned the words 'independent decision.' He mentioned the word 'military,'" Johnson said.

"When the leader of another state talks about a very crucial moment, foresees the risk of a 'grave catastrophe,' and he states that unless Israel unconditionally halts operations within the next few hours that the Soviet Union will take necessary, 'necessary actions including military,' this is pretty serious business," Johnson said.

Johnson said he asked Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara the location of the 6th Fleet. He was told it was 300 miles of Syria and under orders to stay at least 100 miles from the coast.

"Every man in that room knew and all the leaders of the Soviet Union knew that every movement of that fleet was being monitored by the Soviet Union; and any changes in its direction would immediately be intercepted by the Soviet Union and be known to them," he said. "That was the signal."

Dispatchers Will Seek Outlaw Over Bargaining

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO Air Line Dispatchers Association (ALDA) asked the Civil Aeronautics Board today to outlaw a collective bargaining unit set up by 12 airlines.

ALDA president Robert E. Commerce said the intent of the newly established Airlines Industrial Relations Conference (AIRCO) is to tip still further in favor of the airlines an advantage gained in the mutual aid pact approved by the CAB in 1958.

In a parallel development, Commerce asked Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, to investigate airline executive salaries. Records on file with the CAB show that two executives, the heads of Braniff and Continental, each received more than $225,000 last year.

"If the contention is that organized unit labor costs are producing financial woes for the airlines, perhaps we had better explore the entire spectrum," Commerce said.

In a letter to CAB secretary Harry Zink, Commerce said the airlines are able to drag out settlements with unions for months, and to postpone bargaining sessions repeatedly.

"If and when a shutdown actually occurs, when the National Mediation Board finally releases the union party to strike, the airline involved is able to collect large sums of money from partners in the airlines mutual aid pact," Commerce said.

"Half of United's financial losses in 1970, or $20 million, went into payments to other airlines for mutual aid.

"National was able to sustain itself in a strike lasting over three and a half months because of those payments, amounting to millions of dollars.

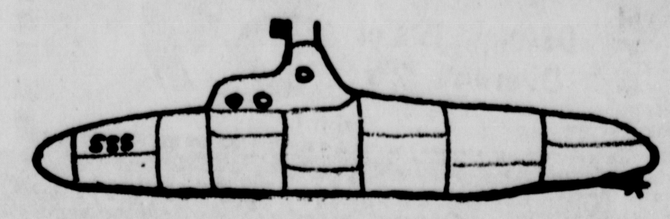

"Mohawk was out for nearly five months, and its automatic inclusion in the pact without a public hearing resulted in the airline recovering most of its losses."

Commerce said a stated intention of AIRCO was to prevent whipsawing on the part of the unions—bargaining with the airlines one at a time to achieve progressively higher rates with each round.

"The inference somehow is (a) this is dishonest; (b) can't be controlled in the normal bargaining process available to both sides," Commerce said.

"Neither is true."

Home Loan Worries Plague Americans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservatism in the savings and loan industry is making it difficult for thousands of moderate-income Americans to obtain subsidized home loans under a new government program, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board says.

Since last week, when the board announced it had less than two months to spend more than $45 million set aside for the subsidy program, there has been a rush of persons seeking to buy homes with reduced monthly payments.

Many were turned down by lenders who said they didn't offer it or didn't have information on the program, the board said.

"The composition of our membership is very conservative, a fact of life that we can't change by fiat from Washington," said James A. Coles, director of bank operations for the board. This attitude is particularly prevalent in the Southwest, Midwest and Upper New England, he added.

The program is designed to help families earning between $7,000 and $12,000 annually to become eligible for conventional home loans. The subsidy would reduce their monthly payments $20 over five years.

The $45 million represents the balance of $85 million available this fiscal year. The board has expressed fear future appropriations may be cut if the full amount is not spent this year.

Technically called HOAP, for the Housing Opportunity Allowance Program, the project has a $25,000 loan ceiling.

Eligibility is determined by a sliding income scale based on the number of children in the family and the area of the country.

"It takes time to implement a major new federal program such as Project HOAP," said the U.S. Savings and Loan League, a trade association. The league said it had not yet supplied members with detailed information on the program, although the bank board has.

The league said of some 2,000 savings and loan associations eligible to participate, only 880 have decided to take part.

Railway Purchases Transport Company

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — MK&O Lines is purchasing the Oklahoma Transportation Co. and Mid-Continent Coaches from Greyhound Lines and has the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, company officials announced Tuesday.

Purchase price was $4,050,000 cash "and other considerations." Completion of the purchase will create the country's biggest independently owned bus system.

MK&O, in accord with the agreement, will give up its intercity route from Tulsa to St. Louis, and the route will continue to be served by Greyhound and Continental Trailways.

Completion of the acquisition will create a system with routes from Ft. Smith, Ark., and Dodge City, Kan., south through Oklahoma City to Childress, Vernon, Wichita Falls and Abilene, Tex.

Chinatown Rebellion Seethes Behind the Scenes in San Francisco

By EDITH M. LEDERER
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Behind the tinseled tourist trappings of San Francisco's Chinatown, thousands of youngsters are rebelling against a system they contend gives them an inferior education and forces their parents to live in one-room cubicles and work seven days a week to survive.

The rebellion by both immigrant and American-born youngsters is marked by skyrocketing juvenile delinquency, gang wars and a sincere effort to improve Chinatown's shabby living and working conditions and end discrimination against the Chinese.

The youngsters contend that their parents' traditional silence has done nothing. So, they are bypassing the established Chinese-American community and taking their demands for better housing, jobs and education directly to City Hall and other agencies.

Establishment leaders—primarily professionals and owners of Chinatown's numerous shops and restaurants—counter that they are aware of the problems and are working quietly to help solve them.

As realtor Steve Jeong put it: "The young people are too impatient and want too much from the government. You've got to work for yourself. You can't expect everyone to give you everything on a silver platter."

San Francisco's Chinatown—the largest Chinese community in the United States—is a densely populated 17-block area bounded by the downtown financial district and Broadway's topless and bottomless clubs.

The 1960 census listed 9,329 residents living in the heart of Chinatown with an additional 43,000 in the surrounding area. But city officials expect a big hike when the 1970 figures are compiled because of the 1965 immigration law that did away with the old "quota system" for Chinese.

The crux of Chinatown's problem is money—and in the current era of strapped budgets, there is virtually none for the new housing, recreation facilities and English language classes desperately needed in the area.

Albert Cheng, executive director of the North Beach-Chinatown Youth Council, said juvenile delinquency has risen 600 per cent in the past six years. He explained that in years past, Chinese students were known for being quiet and easy to control, "so many teachers came to Chinatown to retire, not to teach."

Few bilingual courses are available, he said, noting that Galileo High School, which is 70 per cent Chinese, has eight Latin courses and one Mandarin course. It has no course in Cantonese, which nearly all the immigrants speak, or in Chinese history.

Ray Fong, 16, a Galileo junior, said another problem is that "a lot of parents work long hours and are never home. Their wages are low and the rents are high and they live in one-room apartments with a lot of kids.

"There's no room in the apartment to study and the libraries in Chinatown close early, so the kids drop out and try to find a job. They have no diploma and they can't get jobs, so they have no way to support themselves. So, they go out on the streets and steal or hustle."

Jeffrey Chan, head of the Asian-American Studies Department at San Francisco State College, contended that the traditional strict obedience of Chinese children is a myth, primarily because there were only men for the first 50 years of the Chinese in California.

When women finally arrived, he said, they were forced to work and "even today, men with families are working and their wives are working and their children are on their own, which is why there are so many problems in Chinatown."

The survival problem in Chinatown is reflected in these statistics from the 1960 census:

—The density rate is 885 persons per acre, 10 times the city's average and one of the highest in the country.

—More than two-thirds of the adults have less than an eighth grade education and the last new school in the area was built in 1925.

—Two-thirds of the housing units are rated substandard and one-half the units in the 17-block core consist of single rooms.

—One-third of the families earn less than the federal poverty level, a problem compounded by high unemployment and job discrimination.

The youngsters blame the city's white business and city leaders for letting the conditions in Chinatown deteriorate—but their wrath is equally vehement against the Chinatown establishment, particularly the Chinese Six Companies.

The Six Companies, officially known as the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association, was formed about 100 years ago to fight discrimination against the Chinese. Its leaders are business and professional men representing numerous family and district organizations from mainland China.

Jim Yee, 22, said the Six Companies "are not interested in the problems of the people of Chinatown. They're just interested in their own selfish games. The way they come out, there isn't any problem in Chinatown."

Playground or Ghetto?

The gate to San Francisco's Chinatown leads into the heart of the area, a tourist's delight. But for its residents, many of whom live in crowded tenements in side streets and one lane alleys, Chinatown resembles a ghetto more than an exotic playground. There are signs of rebellion by both immigrant and U.S.-born youngsters: skyrocketing juvenile delinquency and gang wars. But there are also sincere efforts to improve inferior education, bad housing and working conditions, and to combat discrimination against the Chinese. (AP)

To Honor Engineer

Ivar R. Wistrom, head engineer at North Park College and Theological Seminary, Chicago, is the recipient of unusual honors this week. Editors of the student yearbook have announced that the book will be dedicated to Wistrom, whom an administrator has described as indispensible. Wistrom's father received the same recognition in 1933.

BUSINESS NEWS

KANSAS CITY — Larry E. Lumpe, executive vice-president of the State Bank and Trust Co., Poplar Bluff, Monday was named president of the 665-member Missouri Bankers Association at the group's 83rd annual convention here. He succeeds James F. Martin Jr., Lee's Summit.

Lumpe is a native of Lincoln and Warsaw. His uncle, W. J. Lumpe, is president of the Community Bank of Warsaw.

Lyman McMenamy, 912 South Ohio, local representative for Mutual of Omaha and United of Omaha, was recently named a member of United's Century Club, which honors excellence in life insurance production.

Selection is based on outstanding performance in life insurance volume and service to policyowners during a 13-week period following graduation from United of Omaha's Career Seminar School.

McMenamy is associated with the G. Bert Doane Agency.

Ortons Ousted By Vote

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Pemiscot County's new sheriff is Thad Shelly, a towering 6-6, Hayti, Mo., farmer who said today he plans to "quell the lawbreakers" in southeast Missouri.

"The past several years thieving and such has been on the increase," the 46-year-old Shelly said after his election Tuesday night.

Shelly replaces ex-Sheriff Clyde Orton, who was ousted from office about a month ago by the Missouri Supreme Court. The court said Orton, 49, was removed for neglect of duty involving gambling and liquor law violations.

Shelly quashed a bid by Orton's wife, Hazel, to win the sheriff's job.

Unofficial, final returns gave Shelly 1,920 votes to Mrs. Orton's 1,625.

Shelly said he was pleased by the large voter turnout Tuesday. "They placed their confidence in me to continue in this office," he said.

More than 5,400 of the county's 9,000 registered voters cast ballots. The county has a population of about 24,000.

Shelly said he would make some adjustments in the sheriff's office, including adding one more deputy to his staff of two men.

"I'll do my best to make this a good, clean county," he said.

Six other candidates ran far behind Shelly and Mrs. Orton. They were former Deputies Charles A. Farris, Neely Mitchell and Richard Pankey; Gail Davidson, Clyde Manley and Bill White.

Orton Is Out

Thad Shelly, left, defeated Mrs. Clyde Orton in a special election Tuesday for sheriff of Pemiscot County. Mrs. Orton is the wife of the former sheriff who was ousted last month by the Missouri Supreme Court for misconduct in office. She had said that she would have appointed her husband chief deputy if elected.

Retired Persons Organize

About 50 area residents met in the fellowship hall of Broadway Presbyterian Church Tuesday and formed the Sedalia Community Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP).

Officers elected to the executive committee were Dr. Garner S. Odell, pastor of Broadway Presbyterian Church, president; Edwin W. Schultz, 1218 South Osage, vice-president; Mrs. T. E. Gasperson, 1001 South Grand, secretary; L. W. Satorius, 517 West Sixth, treasurer; Marvin Welch, 500 West Broadway; Mrs. Mildred Goddard, 406 South Quincy; and Oscar Lawson, 631 North Osage, all directors.

They will remain in office until March, 1972, when a new slate of officers will be elected at the group's annual meeting.

Dr. Odell told the Democrat-Capital that charter membership in the local chapter will remain open until the next meeting on June 29 at Broadway Presbyterian Church. Anyone 55 and above, whether retired or not, is eligible for membership, he said.

Dr. Esther E. Prevey, Kansas City, AARP representative for western Missouri, conducted the business meeting. She said that by joining the AARP, members can utilize services and a driver improvement program.

She pointed out that members of the National Retired Teachers Association can also join the Sedalia chapter of the AARP. The retired teachers group is an AARP affiliate, she said.

AARP is the largest organization of aged persons in the U.S. with 1,500 new members being added each day, according to Boris Steiman, AARP area representative, who addressed a meeting of the aged here in March.

The Rev. John Thornberry, First United Methodist Church, was elected to represent the chapter in a forum on the study of the humanities June 9-12 at the University of Missouri at Columbia.

Causes Infertility?

Suspected Link With DDT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government scientists have concluded a suspected link between DDT and human infertility warrants attention but not an immediate ban of the pesticide.

Two Environmental Protection Agency scientists who reviewed DDT experiments with rats said the test failed to demonstrate an imminent hazard to human health.

The tests with rats were conducted by Dr. W. Leroy Heinrichs, a gynecologist, and Dr. Ronald L. Gellert, a physiologist, both of the University of Washington.

The doctors reported an experimental link between DDT and ovarian cysts in offspring of laboratory rats. They said a corresponding condition causing infertility was detected with increasing frequency in women.

As a result of Heinrichs-Gellert findings that DDT might have caused the infertility, EPA launched a study whose results were sent Tuesday to Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus.

An EPA source told The Associated Press the report suggests the findings be considered in the continuing review of Ruckelshaus' decision to seek cancellation of all uses of DDT.

Ruckelshaus began procedures last March 18 to ban all DDT uses because of suspicions it may cause cancer, mutations and birth defects, at least in experimental animals.

But he allowed DDT to remain on the market during the review, which could take a year or more, because, he said, there was no evidence of imminent hazard to human health—the legal requirement for suspending sale of such chemicals.

Heinrichs and Gellert reported their experiments two weeks later.

Dr. O. Garth Fitzhugo, EPA's toxicology adviser, said in an interview Tuesday the experiments used a form of DDT to which humans ordinarily receive little exposure.

"I don't think from a practical standpoint it (infertility) would occur in humans," he added. "I see no imminent hazard."

Another EPA pesticides expert, Dr. Cipriano Cuerto, said: "They used a type of material to which we have the least exposure, but even if it were the more common type it still would have been an exaggerated dosage."

Heinrichs said last month DDT in his experiments caused a defect in the part of a rat's nervous system which sets the pattern of hormone production, ultimately affecting the ovaries.

In human beings, he said, this "programming" for hormone production is believed to develop in the unborn fetus, and damage could show up when the offspring reaches child-bearing age.

Baptists Meeting Begins

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — About 500 American Baptist officials and 31 bags of wheat have arrived in Minneapolis for the American Baptist Convention, a five-day meeting which opens today.

The officials and board members, including those associated with the denomination's Foreign Mission Society, began arriving over the weekend to transact business and plan programs. The mission society people, and others, have been meeting in advance of the convention.

The wheat, weighing about 1,000 pounds, was shipped in by air. It was donated by Neill Dorach, a Flagler, Colo., farmer, and Wayne Angell, Ottawa, Kan.

Baptist women from 31 Minneapolis and St. Paul churches used the wheat to make bread for the opening Communion service of the convention. Some 8,000 delegates from about 6,000 churches were expected for the convention.

Convention delegates will debate and vote on a number of resolutions dealing with current issues. The proposed resolutions have been placed under six general headings—peace, family life, ghettoized society, penology, national health insurance, and the political situation in the Middle East.

There are about 27 million Baptists in the United States, and they are divided into some 30 denominations.

The American Baptist Convention, with 1½ million members, has been regarded as one of the most socially minded and ecumenical. About 10 per cent of its members are black.

S-C Wins Meet, 97-44

Tigers Roll Over Columbia

Smith-Cotton closed out the current home track season by sweeping 12 of the 17 first places against the Columbia Hickman Kewpies and rolled to an easy 97-44 varsity win.

The junior varsity had an equally easy time in their meet with the Kewpies' jayvees as they rambled to a 95-46 win.

Although an easy win for the Bengals' squad, the meet had some stirring highlights.

Two track events, the 220-yard dash and the 880-yard relay, went down to the wire.

Paul Klover, competing in the 220 event for only the second time of the season, spotted Columbia standout Bob Logan ten yards out of the blocks, but turned on in the last 110 yards and won a close victory. Klover's time of :21.9 was only .05 of a second faster than Logan at the finish. The clocking also tied the current varsity mark.

The 880-yard relay, the Tigers held on to the lead all the way to the wire, but a late charge by sophomore standout Roger White almost won it for the Kewpies at the finish. However, Jack Cook withstood the charge and gave the Tigers another first. Bill Morrow ran the first leg of the event for the Tigers, while David Knott and Tom Bloess ran the second and third legs.

Four records were shattered during the wet evening's meet. The first of which came in the two-mile relay for the Bengals. The team of Robert Mayes, David Moore, Mike Heembrock and Paul Klover blistered the track for a clocking of 8:19.4. The old mark was 8:20.0 set two years ago.

Mark Hewett established a new pole vault mark breaking his own record set last year by five inches. Hewett vaulted 13'6"; his old mark was 13'1."

A new stadium record was also set in the pole vault as Paul Seltsam went 13'9" in the event for first place.

The other record (stadium) came in the discus as Neil Watchinski of Columbia won the event with a throw of 151'11½." The old record was set by Con Rees at 146'0" in 1965.

S-C's sophomore shot putter Aaron Hartt won a personal goal by beating Watchinski in that event. Hartt won the event with Hartt's toss of 51'5¼"; Watchinski gave Columbia a second-place finish in the event with his toss of 50'1½." It was the first time in four meetings that Hartt had been able to win the event over Watchinski.

The high and low hurdle events, both of which the Tigers won, were tight events. Bill Morrow won the highs in a time of :15.7, only a few steps ahead of Bill Gill of Columbia.

Mark Hewett and Bill Morrow ran one, two in the low hurdles, with Morrow finishing only .01 of a second ahead of Gill for second place.

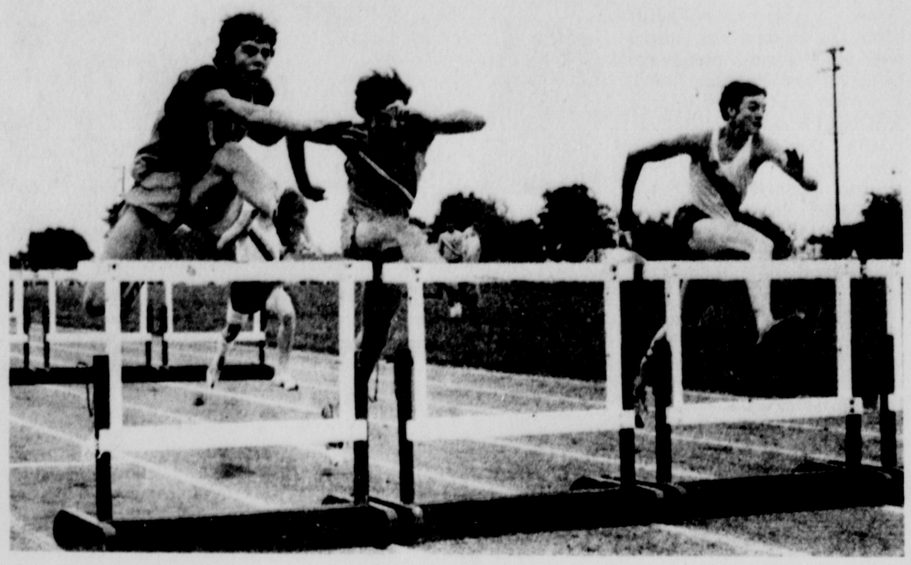

Other wins for the Tigers came in the mile relay, the 880-yard run, the two-mile run, the mile run, the triple jump and the high jump.

The mile relay team, made up of Mike Heembrock, Mark Hewett, Larry Hausam and Paul Klover, won over the Kewpies with a time of 3:44.5; Robert Mayes gave the Tigers a first in the 880-yard run; David Stoll grabbed first in he two-mile run; C. E. Baldwin, Carl Berry and Jim Estes copped all three places in that order, in the mile run; Bob Fingland was tops in the triple jump, while Randy Bloess grabbed the top spot in the high jump.

The Bengals' next outing will be in the district outdoor qualifications in Mexico, Saturday.

O's Plight Ends

Baltimore Stops KC's Hot Streak

BALTIMORE (AP) — It was a game nobody seemed to want to win.

The Baltimore Orioles nipped the Kansas City Royals, 5-4, in 10 innings Tuesday night, with Merv Rettenmund's single scoring Brooks Robinson with the deciding run.

But until Brooks touched home, nothing about the contest was certain.

The Royals, winners of three out of four contests with the world champs this season before Tuesday night, jumped in front quickly with two runs off Oriole starter Pat Dobson. Gail Hopkins supplied the muscle, knocking in Joe Keough and Amos Otis with a one-out double to left.

Kansas City appeared to be ready to bust the game wide open in the second, as they loaded the bases with one out. But Keough's bid for more rbi's was nullified as first baseman Boog Powell grabbed his low hopper, fired to home for the force out on Paul Schaal, then hustled back to the bag to take catcher Elrod Hendrick's return peg for the third out.

The Orioles got on the scoreboard in the fourth with one run, then took the lead in the next frame with two runs off Royals' starter Dick Drago.

The lead didn't stand for long, however, as K.C. came back to tie it in the top of the sixth. It stayed knotted until the home half of the eighth, when the Orioles scored the go-ahead run on a double by Dave Johnson, a fielder's choice grounder by Rettenmund and a sacrifice fly by Andy Etchebarren.

It looked like the run that would snap the Birds' three-game losing streak. But Keough and Otis were to be heard from again.

With two away in the top of the ninth, Keough whacked his second double of the night over Rettenmund's head into right-center.

Otis then lofted a fly to left-center which most in the crowd of 4,979 thought would be the final out.

It dropped safely, however, as center fielder Paul Blair and left fielder Don Buford both appeared to hesitate. The ball rolled between them all the way to the wall, scoring Keough with the tying run and enabling Otis, who kept up his hot streak with three hits, to take third.

Reliever Pete Richert then came on to end the threat, fanning Hopkins and setting the stage for Rettenmund's game-winner, his fourth hit of the night.

The Orioles, who had been hitting a feeble .187 in the 13 contests before Tuesday night, received bad news from the training room before the game. Slugger Frank Robinson, who was hit on the left hand two week's ago by a pitch from Oakland's Diego Segui, will be kept out of action until the weekend series at Boston.

ABA Series To Resume

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Utah Stars Coach Bill Sharman has concentrated his team's efforts in two areas for tonight's battle with the Kentucky Colonels to break a 2-2 tie in the American Basketball Association championship playoffs.

"We have to play defense and not get scattered around like we did Saturday, and we will have to rebound better," Sharman declared.

The Stars were heavily outrebounded in losing the last two games of the series at Louisville. Sharman says he feels that was partly due to Zelmo Beaty's early foul trouble and Red Robbins being sick.

Sharman said he didn't think Kentucky played its best at Louisville.

Kentucky Coach Frank Ramsey will start the same five players that started the first four games of the series. Darel Carrier and Louie Dampier will be the guards with Jim Ligon and Cincy Powell at forwards and Dan Issel at center.

The Utah Starters are a little less definite. Beaty is healthy, but has gotten into foul trouble early in the last two games. Red Robbins has recovered from a weekend bout with the flu, but isn't expected to be up to par.

Merv Jackson is a doubtful starter at guard with a bad knee. Sharman may have to throw swingman Ron Boone against Dampier. Glen Combs is expected to guard Carrier. Willie Wise has recovered from a bout with the flu enough to take the forward position.

The 13,208 tickets for tonight's game have been sold out since Monday. Stars officials have announced they plan a closed - circuit television broadcast to a nearby auditorium which can seat 2,400 persons.

The sixth game will be played Saturday afternoon in Louisville. A seventh game, if necessary, will be played Tuesday in the Salt Palace.

Utah must win tonight's game to preserve the home-court advantage, which it won by having a better regular-season record than Kentucky.

Ryun, Liquori To Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — Nothing since the 1968 Olympic Games has stirred interest in track and field as Sunday's head-to-head "Dream Mile" race between Jim Ryun and Marty Liquori.

Ryun, the world's top miler from 1965 until mononucleosis slowed him in 1968, and Liquori, who beat Ryun in the 1969 NCAA and AAU championships, will face each other on the lightning-fast Tartan track of Philadelphia's Franklin Field in the Martin Luther King Freedom Games.

On paper, Ryun has an impressive edge. He has beaten Liquori in six out of eight races at the mile and the "metric mile," 1,500 meters. He holds the world record for both distances, 3:51.1 for the mile and 3:33.1 for the 1,500 meters, while Liquori's best times are a 3:57.2 mile and 3:37.2 for the metric distance.

"Marty's a competitor," says Jim "Jumbo" Elliott, Liquori's coach at Villanova. "He never runs for time, but only to win, so naturally his times aren't as fast as Ryun's. But Marty's in the best shape of his life, and he's really ready for this race. Remember, he beat Ryun the last two times they raced, and he's two years older and stronger now."

"When I stepped into Jim's shoes as Number One," says Liquori, "I realized what it had been like for him. You feel you have to win every race—even the unimportant ones you don't care about."

Now Ryun, after more than a year away from competition, is making an impressive comeback. After tying the world indoor record of 3:56.4 in his second race last winter, he emphasized his return to form with a 3:55.8 at the Kansas Relays on April 24.

Ryun lives in Eugene, Oregon now, but his coach at the University of Kansas, Bob Timmons, still advises him by mail and long-distance phone call.

Rain Changes Game

Tuesday night's heavy rain has forced postponement of the Missouri State High School Activities Association's district baseball game at Liberty Park Stadium.

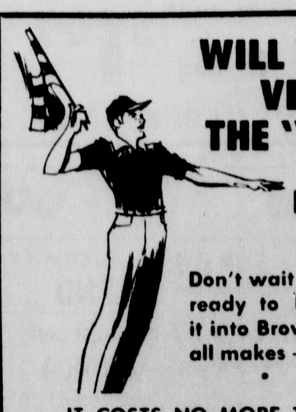

Smith-Cotton was scheduled to meet Ashland in the contest at 5 p.m. Wednesday, but the game has been rescheduled for Thursday afternoon at the same time.

Thursday's winner will advance to the sectional contest, also scheduled for Liberty Park, against Raytown South Monday afternoon.

New Vault Record

Senior Smith-Cotton pole vaulter Mark Hewett established a new S-C record with his vault of 13'6" during Tuesday's meet with Columbia. Hewett, however, lost the event to Paul Seltsam of Columbia, who went 13'9" in the event. (Democrat-Capital Photo)

Montreal Ties Play In Series at 2-All

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens have righted themselves and just might be in position to go on to capture the Stanley Cup, the trophy which they didn't get a chance to defend last year when they failed to make the playoffs.

The Canadiens, who were down two games to none last week, made it two straight over the Chicago Black Hawks Tuesday night with a 5-2 victory on their home ice.

That evens the best of seven series at two games each with game number five scheduled for Chicago Thursday night and game number six at Montreal Sunday in a nationally-televised matinee.

"The Canadiens deserved that victory," said Hawk coach Billy Reay. "They outplayed us except for the second period where we made a couple of mistakes.

"We always know what we're up against when we come here to play because they are so awful tough at home.

"Right now it becomes a best of three series," continued Reay, "and the next game is the most crucial in the series for both teams."

The thing the Hawks have going for them is the home ice advantage since game five and seven, if necessary, will be played in Chicago.

However the momentum in the series seems to be swinging toward the Canadiens.

The turn came Sunday when the Hawks took a two-goal lead in the first period and lost the contest 4-2.

Tuesday night, except for a brief time in the first period, it was all Canadiens.

Pete Mahovlich, enjoying a great series, put the Canadiens ahead 1-0 a minute after the game-opening face off.

Stan Mikita tied it at 3:09 of the period on a power play goal when Jean Beliveau was in the penalty box. But some three minutes later, Captain Jean retaliated with a power play goal and the Canadiens were off and flying.

Although the Hawks outshot the Canadiens 17-12 in the second period, Yvan Cournoyer scored his two goals to keep the Chicagoans from seriously threatening.

The game was marred in the final three minutes when a series of fights broke, causing referee Bruce Hood to mete out a load of penalties.

"It was just one hell of a game for us," said Montreal Coach Al MacNeil as he was trying to settle down emotionally.

Preakness Field Dwindles Quickly

BALTIMORE (AP) — The field for Saturday's $150,000 Preakness, once considered likely to be bulky enough for two divisions, could dwindle to a mere nine today.

Leematt and Unconscious were withdrawn from the Triple Crown race Tuesday, reducing the probable field to 10, and a decision was expected today on Impetuosity.

Owner C. Oliver Goldsmith yanked Leematt from consideration Tuesday after the colt worked a mile in 1:41 1-5 from a starting gate.

Unconscious, who finished fifth in the Kentucky Derby after going off the favorite, will be kept out of the Preakness by an injured rear ankle.

"We decided reluctantly on my part to pass up the Preakness, in which he is entered, and concentrate on the Belmont," Arthur Seeligson, owner of Unconscious, said Tuesday.

Davis, McCovey Sharpen Averages

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

A couple of West Coast Willies are off on a whirlwind spree and, for a change, neither one answers to the name Mays.

Willie McCovey, coming on strong after a slow start this season, belted three hits, including his seventh home run, as the San Francisco Giants widened their National League West lead to eight games with a 6-1 triumph over Cincinnati Tuesday night.

Willie Davis, meanwhile, continued his torrid hitting with three singles and a triple, helping the Los Angeles Dodgers whip Atlanta 6-1 to snap a three-game losing string and move into second place behind the runaway Giants.

Davis has banged out 11 hits in his last 13 trips to the plate, hiking his batting average to .395. McCovey has gone 9-for-12 in his last four starts, bringing his average up to .311.

Elsewhere in the NL, the New York Mets battered Houston 8-1 behind Nolan Ryan's three-hitter and Dave Marshall's grand slam homer; two homers by Joe Torre paced St. Louis to a 10-4 romp over Montreal; Pittsburgh drubbed San Diego 10-4 with Manny Sanguillen stroking four hits and the Chicago Cubs clubbed Philadelphia 6-2.

McCovery put the wraps on the Giants' 24th victory in 33 games with a two-run homer in the third inning after Mays, a .375 hitter, drew a walk from Jim Merritt.

Bobby Bonds' eighth homer, singles by Chris Speier, McCovey and Ken Henderson and another homer by Dick Dietz had given the division leaders a 4-0 first inning jump.

Gaylord Perry, 4-1, checked the reeling Reds on six hits. Merritt, a 20-game winner last year, absorbed his fourth setback in as many decisions.

Davis punched a two-out single in the first inning before Richie Allen walked and Wes Parker drilled a two-run double, sending the Dodgers ahead to stay at Los Angeles.

After Bill Buckner's three-run homer in the fourth chased Braves' starter Jim Nash, Davis tagged reliever Pat Jarvis for a triple and scored on a single by Allen.

Southpaw Claude Osteen tamed Atlanta on six hits for a 4-3 season mark as the Dodgers moved percentage points ahead of the Braves into second place in the west.

Ryan walked seven Houston batters and hit another, but pitched hitless ball until the fifth inning, struck out eighth and wound up, breezing to his fourth victory without a loss.

The Mets, who have won four in a row for a one-game edge over second-place Pittsburgh in the East, scored three runs off Larry Dierker in the third and knocked out the Houston ace in the sixth before Marshall rocked reliever George Culver for his bases-loaded homer.

Ryan has issued 24 walks—but has yielded just 12 hits while fanning 23—in 25 innings of work this season.

Torre broke a 3-3 tie at Montreal with a two-run homer in the fifth inning and walloped his sixth homer of the year—another two-run shot—in the ninth. Jose Cardenal and Dick Schofield also homered for the Cards.

Sanguillen drove in two runs for the Pirates, who overcame a 2-1 fifth inning deficit and then poured it on against the Padres. Roberto Clemente slammed a double and his first homer of the season, delivering three runs, and Gene Clines sent Pittsburgh in front with a two-run triple in the fifth.

Chicago's Bill Hands, backed by two-run homers off the bats of Johnny Callison, Billy Williams and Ron Santo, held Philadelphia hitless after the third inning.

Accepting Entries

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Entries are now being accepted for the Missouri Valley Association AAU outdoor track and field meet, Saturday, May 22.

Verlin Schmidt, meet director, says any athlete holding an AAU card can compete at the event, scheduled for the Southeast High school track in Kansas City, Mo.

Interested applicants may contact the AAU office, 201 E. Armour Blvd., Kansas City, Mo.

Angels Down Tigers

Bosox Rough Up Minnesota, 5-4

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Minnesota Twins brought home the bacon Tuesday night but the Boston Red Sox' bullpen took the cake and left the governor of Iowa with egg on his face.

Bill Lee provided Boston's daily relief with four hitless innings to preserve one of Gary Peters' rare victories over Minnesota 5-4.

It was Iowa Night in Minnesota and Gov. Robert Ray brought along a pig to present to the first Twin hitting a home run. Peters and Lee took care to see that no one did, though, and the porker went instead to Cesar Tovar, who got Minnesota's first hit.

The triumph was Boston's 14th in the last 17 games and kept the Red Sox 2½ games in front of Baltimore in the American League East. Over that stretch, the once futile Bosox bullpen has compiled a 6-0 record with 10 saves and a composite 1.20 earned run average.

Elsewhere, the Orioles edged Kansas City 5-4 in 10 innings, Cleveland topped Oakland 7-5 and California blanked Detroit 5-0. New York at Milwaukee and Washington at Chicago were rained out.

The big relief work for Boston has been done by Lee, Ken Tatum and Sparky Lyle, with assists from Ken Brett, Bob Bolin and Cal Koonce.

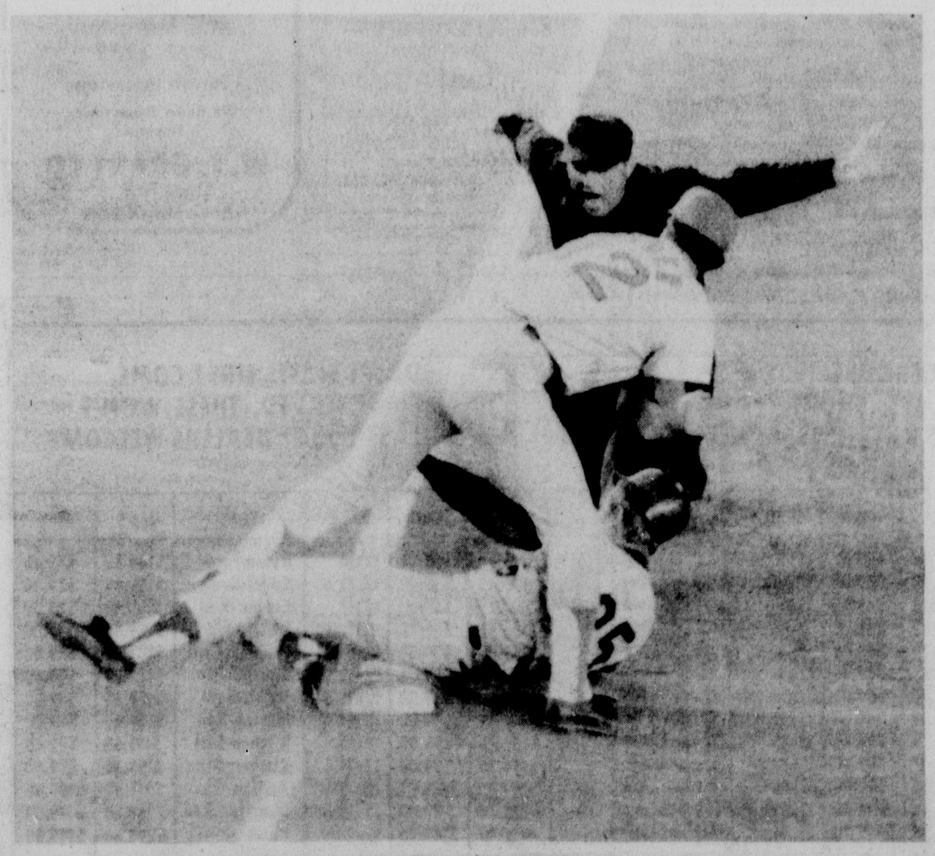

Peters, who went into the game with a 3-16 career record against the Twins, reached the point of no return in the sixth inning, but still picked up the win.

He had a 5-2 lead on two-run homers by Duane Josephson and Carl Yastrzemski but a walk and two singles by Leo Cardenas and Rick Renick accounted for one run and finished Peters. Lee allowed George Mitterwald's sacrifice fly and then slammed the door.

Solo homers by Ken Berry and Ken McMullen backed Clyde Wright's eight-hit pitching as the Angels whipped the Tigers. McMullen also scored on a single by Jerry Moses while Berry carried another run across on Sandy Alomar's single.

Cleveland surged to a 5-0 lead on pitcher Steve Dunning's grand slam, his first major league homer, but the young hurler couldn't hold it. Oakland caught up with four runs in the fifth, Rick Monday's homer accounting for the last three.

Phil Hennigan, just back from the minors, took over at that point and blanked the A's the rest of the way on two hits. Vada Pinson's fifth-inning single, an infield out and Roy Foster's double snapped the deadlock and the Indians added a run an inning later on singles by Jack Heidemann and Ted Uhlaender around Hennigan's sacrifice.

No Doubt Here

Umpire Bill Williams makes an emphatic call of safe on New York Mets' runner Don Hahn as he slides safely under the tag of Houston's Doug Rader at third base. The play came during the third inning of the New York-Houston game, Tuesday night in New York. The Mets downed the Astros, 8-1. (UPI)

And That Makes Two

Pete Mahovlich (center) of Montreal signifies two for the number of wins his team has after the Canadiens downed the Chicago Black Hawks, 5-2, in the fourth Stanley Cup championship series game, Tuesday night in Montreal. The series is now tied at two games apiece, after Montreal had dropped the opening two in Chicago. Other Montreal players pictured are Rejean Houle (left) and Yvan Cournoyer. (UPI)

All-Star Cage Game Set

NEW YORK (AP) — "This 'Super Game,'" superstar Oscar Robertson said, "will show that the two pro leagues can play against each other at the highest competitive level without an illegal merger."

The game pits all stars from the warring National Basketball Association and American Basketball Association May 28 in the Houston Astrodome.

By agreeing to the first meeting between the two loops, the NBA Players Association defied the league owners who barred such a game until a formal merger occurs.

The players' group opposes any merger and has a court injunction now in effect to bar one. Just last week the owners of both leagues agreed to seek congressional legislation to clear the way for it.

Asked whether the owners approved of the game, Robertson, a star guard for the NBA champion Milwaukee Bucks and president of the players association, snapped:

"It doesn't matter whether they approve or not!"

He said that by refusing to present such a game without a merger "the owners' sole motivation becomes clear—money.

"What should be of interest is the fan and the quality of product he sees."

NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy refused to say what action the league might take to halt the contest but ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph said his league would "take steps to stop our players from participating if it is decided the game would be detrimental to the league—which we have not.

"A player's contract requires him to get permission from his team for any such game," Dolph added.

But Arlen Preblud, attorney for the ABA Players Association, insisted:

"It is not the intention of the ABA players to play this in defiance of our owners. And it has nothing to do with the merger. The ABA players are merely playing a game with the NBA players for the Whitney Young Foundation."

The net gate receipts from the game will go to the newly created foundation which directs funds to programs that prepare ghetto youngsters for college.

The game will be syndicated for national television at 8:30 p.m., EDT, by TVS, an independent network.

The NBA players will be centers Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee and Nate Thurmond of San Francisco, forwards Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia, Dave DeBusschere of New York, John Havlicek of Boston and Elvin Hayes of San Diego and guards Earl Monroe of Baltimore, Dave Bing of Detroit, Walt Frazier of New York and Robertson.

The ABA's 11 players will be centers Zelmo Beaty of Utah and Mel Daniels of Indiana, forwards Rick Barry of New York, Roger Brown of Indiana, Willie Wise of Utah and Dan Issel of Kentucky and guards Charlie Scott of Virginia, Larry Jones of the Floridians, Bill Melchionni of New York, Steve Jones of Memphis and Donnie Freeman of Texas.

Duane Thomas Quits Football

Duane Thomas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Gil Brandt, who signed unhappy Dallas Cowboy running back Duane Thomas to a contract, said Tuesday he's surprised the National Football League's rookie of the year wants to retire.

Brandt, a club vice president, said, "Duane is a tremendous football player and a fine man. I'm just sorry he feels the way he does."

Thomas is in Los Angeles and said he has no plans to return here or talk with Cowboy officials. The former West Texas State star is unhappy with his three-year contract. He said it calls for him to make $500 less this year than he did last.

Thomas also said he had to haggle with Cowboy officials to get his rookie of the year bonus money.

He told the Dallas Morning News Tuesday that "not all of my problems derive from money. Another thing that concerned me was that they (The Cowboys) have no emotion about a player's well being. They look at you not as a person, but as a specimen."

In San Antonio, player-backfield coach Danny Reeves said Tuesday night, "I'm positive the Cowboy organization will be very fair with Duane and will see to it that Duane's back with the Cowboys next year."

Witnesses Testify In Bomb Case

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two government witnesses testified in Federal Court Tuesday they were unable to place Joel Achtenberg, 24, in the vicinity of a Reserve Officers Training Corps building destroyed by fire last spring.

Achtenberg, a former Washington University student, is accused of having helped burn the building during disorders on the campus in May, 1970.

His trial began Monday before U. S. District Judge Kenneth Wangelin.

Dr. Helen T. Spigel, who identified herself as a Washington U. administrator, said she saw Achtenberg at a rally in the ROTC area on the night of May 4, 1970. The building was destroyed by fire early the next day.

Asked if she noticed anything different about Achtenberg's appearance she said, "yes, at the demonstration he wore a beard, long hair and boots." Achtenberg now is clean shaven and conservatively dressed.

One of Achtenberg's attorneys is his father Irving Achtenberg of Kansas City. He said Monday he would prove his son was "never ever" inside the building that was burned.

Seeking Teenagers Who Fled From Jail

MARSHFIELD, Mo. (AP) — The highway patrol said a search was underway today for two teenagers who fled the Webster County jail shortly after midnight.

They were identifed as Steven Worthy, 17, of Kansas City, Kan., and Danny Hayes, 16, of Niangua. Worthy was being held for burglary and larceny, Hayes as an incorrigible.

Officers said Worthy, a trusty, apparently unlocked the cell for Hayes. Two two then went to the roof of the building and fashioned a rope of sheets and blankets.

Both boys, Webster County officials said, were believed to have been injured when the make-shift rope broke.

Joplin Residents Wait Out Storm

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Residents of the Joplin area, still digging out of one tornado, spent an uneasy 90 minutes Tuesday under warnings for another storm.

The city went under a warning when a tornao was sighted by the public at Picher, Okla. A short time later a tornado was sighted on the ground a mile west of Baxter Springs, Kan., eight miles west of Joplin. No damage was reported.

Joplin is still cleaning up from last Wednesday's devastating storm that left one dead, 40 injured, and property damage that may reach $20 million.

Meanwhile, Joplin's city council met in special session Tuesday to allocate $20,000 in emergency funds for removal of storm debris. City manager Robert Metzinger said about half of that amount had already been spent in cleanup work.

Missouri Medallion

The 1971 issue of the Missouri Sesquicentennial Medallion's obverse side, right, shows the current and first state capitols, with symbols depicting Missouri's contribution to the nation's growth shown on the other. The medallion was designed by H. Richard Duhme, associate professor of sculpture at Washington University, St. Louis, and became available this week.

Unique Plan Underway in Sedalia

By ROBERT H. TARBELL
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

Old, unsightly and empty houses which should have been removed years ago are being taken down each year by the Sedalia Street and Alley Department as part of a beautification project which is "unique in the state of Missouri," according to Mayor Jerry Jones.

"The overall object of the program is to rid the community of dilapidated old homes which are just unfit for human habitation," Jones said.

Another beneficial aspect of the demolition program is, according to Jones, the fact that it opens building lots in the city for possible new home construction.

"At a time when the city faces a housing shortage, these removals coupled with other aspects of the beautification program, serve as a possible solution to the housing problem," Jones said.

Whether the house can be repaired or must be torn down because it is a hazard to the public is usually the decision of Woodrow Garrison, city building inspector.

Garrison, in the early part of each year, inspects over a dozen vacant or badly deteriorated houses from a list he has compiled from the previous year. The list is based on complaints of neighbors.

"Before I recommend that a house should be condemned and consequently demolished, I look for certain things. I need to know if the house is structurally unsound, which means it must have bad walls or a sagging roof or a crumbling foundation," Garrison said.

"Generally if a house is so deteriorated that one third of its basic structure is damaged, I would recommend that it be torn down," he said.

To get a house demolished, one of three plans is usually followed. Garrison, after approval from the mayor and City Council, can ask the property owner to tear the structure down. If the property owner can afford it, he is asked to demolish the property himself. About one third of those houses condemned are demolished by property owners.

Secondly, if the property owner agrees, but can't afford to remove the building, the city will do it for him. There is no charge for the service.

The third method is not quite as pleasant for the property owner. Once the house is condemned, barring court action by the owner, the city would demolish the property, slap a lien on it and bill the owner for the removal operation. If the owner does not pay, the land could be sold at a tax auction.

Both Garrison and R. W. Cunningham, city engineer, said that they were unaware of a similar program anywhere in the state. "Kansas City does have a program where they demolish old houses, but they bring a private contractor to do it," Cunningham said.

Garrison said the success of the city's house removal plan might be catching on. "I have had several inquiries about the program from area communities," he said. Two of the cities that were interested were Fulton and Boonville, according to Garrison.

Between 1967 and 1970 the city demolished 48 substandard dwellings, according to a list supplied by Cunningham.

"Not only do we demolish a lot of old dilapidated houses, but we also clean up quite a few vacant lots," Cunningham said. He said 85 vacant lots were cleaned by the Street and Alley Department from 1967 to 1970.

Complete authority for third-class cities to demolish unsafe structures was granted in the state's Unified Building Code, which was revised in a legislative act in 1968, according to Garrison.

Unfit For Habitation

Woodrow Garrison, city building inspector, said this house, located at 918 East Third, was not fit to live in. Garrison said it lacked such necessities as proper lighting and interior plumbing. It, along with 15 other houses, was recommended by Garrison in February to be demolished by the city.

To Review Loan Applications

Committees in 76 counties in Missouri were established recently to handle applications for student livestock loans.

Committeemen for Pettis County include Orin W. Chappell, Route 4, Rudy Davidson and Elburn Chaney, both of Green Ridge.

Making up the Benton County committee will be Robert Kullman, Cole Camp; Merlin Kriesel, Wyman Henderson and Roy Freund, all of Warsaw.

Cooper County committeemen are Ed C. Dugan, Sid Walter and Paul MayGinnes, all of Boonville.

Jerald Weber and Robert Angle, both of Clinton, will be members of the Henry County committee. Rex Ferguson, Windsor, will work with the Johnson County committee, and Omar Mahnken, Corder, has been assigned to the Lafayette County Committee.

Members of the Miller County committee include E. C. Greenway, Bob L. Heitmeyer and Ed Schmitz, all of Eldon. Working with Moniteau County are Robert Denker, California and Thurman Lowery and Carl Allee, both of Tipton.

The purpose of each county committee will be to examine the eligibility of applicants for loans and make recommendations to banks and other financial institutions which desire to make loans.

Any active member of FFA, 4-H Club, Future Homemakers of America or any other recognized farm youth organization is eligible to apply for a loan up to maximum of $5,000. The program has been established to encourage young farmers to enter the livestock and poultry raising industry. More than one member may apply for a loan and each is entitled up to the maximum limit if approved.

Applications for the program may be obtained from the Missouri Department of Agriculture, Box 630, Jefferson City, Mo. 65101, or by contacting the county committee.

Young Girl Saves Relatives in Fire

ORLAND PARK, Ill. (AP) — A 14-year-old girl jumped from the roof of her burning home, hoisted a 20-foot wooden ladder to a second-floor window and rescued her mother and two brothers.

Police said the ladder normally requires two men to handle.

"I don't know how I got it up there," said Carla Kjellberg, an eighth-grade pupil. "I'm not that strong, really.

"I climbed out on the roof and jumped to the ground. I remembered there was a long ladder under the front porch. I dragged it out and raised it to the bedroom window."

Police and firemen credited Carla's actions Monday with saving the lives of her family.

Modifications Of Volkswagens Are on the Wing

SANTO ANGELO, Brazil (AP) — Custom car enthusiasts always are making far-out modifications on Volkswagens. But they'll really have to come up with something to top the feat of Ludwig Michel, a German-Brazilian mechanic.

Michel, 54, built and flew an airplane powered by a 29-horsepower "Beetle" engine.

"I got tired of waiting in line every weekend just to take a short spin," said Michel, who until recently had to do all his flying at the local air club.

Receiving a 1,200-cc. VW engine as a gift, Michel spent an additional $300 on pine boards, sheet steel, steel tubing and cloth and built the "Michel 1." It took him 2½ years.

His flight record is 31 minutes, and the highest he has flown is about 650 feet.

A native of Wetzlar, Germany, Michel came to Brazil in 1941.

Lewis W. Shultz, director of academic advisement, Central Missouri State College, will be the commencement speaker at 8 p.m. May 20 at Smithton High School's graduation ceremonies. Shultz joined the CMSC staff in 1961 and has been an educator for 41 years.

Forgotten Graves Being Restored

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — For decades they lay pretty much forgotten, the graves of hundreds of Jews who joined the flocks of wealth-seekers who poured into the Sierra east of here in the Gold Rush of the 1850s.

The Jewish communities buried their own in small separate cemeteries in six towns along the route of what is now California Highway 49.

When the groups owning the cemeteries disbanded by the turn of the century, five of the burial sites generally fell into neglect, filling with weeds, leaves and other litter over the years.

The sixth cemetery has been cared for by Julius E. Baer in his native town of Sonora for 70 of his 94 years. He took over the task from his father, Mayer, who died in 1907.

But one by one, the other cemeteries are being restored and documented in a continuing project to preserve that part of California's Jewish heritage.

The nonprofit Commission for the Preservation of Pioneer Jewish Cemeteries has restored and rededicated graveyards so far in Sonora, Placerville, Grass Valley and Nevada City. Still to be restored are the ones in Jackson and Mokelumne Hill, as well as one in Virginia City, Nev.

The commission is a public trust of the Judah L. Magnes Memorial Museum in Berkeley.

Dr. Robert Levinson, commission executive vice chairman, arranges for synagogue youth groups from as far away as the San Francisco Bay Area to tackle the restoration chores.

"First we take an inventory of the graves and make a copy of the Hebrew and English on the gravestones," Levinson says. "Then we draw a map of the cemetery."

Levinson, a U.S. history professor at San Jose State College, says his research of Gold Rush Jews has only revealed three who were miners. Most were shopkeepers and other businessmen.

Between 1848—the year gold was discovered at Sutter's Mill —until 1880, the Jewish community in the gold country numbered about 1,000.

President's Action Slows Research Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee on the verge of endorsing a cancer-research bill sponsored by its chairman has backed off to call hearings on a new plan offered by President Nixon.

Nixon unveiled his plan Tuesday, and Democrats said their first impression was that it contained neither enough money nor enough administrative revision to get the job done.

Nevertheless, the Senate health subcommittee deferred approval of a bill proposed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to allow time for studying the Nixon measure.

Kennedy said the subcommittee will act quickly on one of the proposals, both of which are aimed at finding a cure for cancer.

The Nixon plan would keep cancer research under the National Institutes of Health where the Cancer Institute has been at work for years.

But the agency would report directly to him and have an independent budget including an extra $100 million above what is now provided. The President promised these funds in his State of the Union message.

The Kennedy bill, introduced Jan. 25, would take cancer research out of NIH and the Health, Education and Welfare Department, and put it under an organization with the sole purpose of fighting cancer.

The senator said this step is essential if the battle is to get the necessary push.

Kennedy proposes an extra $200 million in funds for the work in the next year, and $400 million in the following year.

Health subcommittee aides said they understood only $30 million of the sum Nixon proposed would be spent in the fiscal year starting July 1, and $70 million would be authorizations for future years.

Congress voted $230.4 million for the Cancer Institute for the current year.

In his January budget, Nixon originally asked $232 million for fiscal 1972.

A Senate Appropriations subcommittee headed by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., already has voted to add $100 million to the President's 1972 request.

WIDOW NEXT DOOR

BEARSDEN, Scotland (AP) — Samuel Craig, 64, and Mrs. Catherine Hunter, 50, who have lived next door to each other for 30 years, plan to marry. Craig, a physics teacher, has been a widower three years. Mrs. Hunter has been a widow 10 years.

Will Hear Indian Complaint

WINNER, S.D. (AP) — A Sioux Indian, backed by government-funded lawyers, has won a hearing in federal court on his charges that the poor Indian Town section of this rural marketing center is being deprived of its share of municipal services.

John Fire brought the suit against Mayor Paul Blomstrom and eight other city officials claiming services such as electricity, sewage and streetpaving are provided in an "invidiously discriminatory manner."

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Andrew Bogue of Rapid City denied the city's request Monday to throw out Fire's suit and set a hearing for June 1 on the request of a preliminary injunction against the city.

Judge Bogue cited a Jan. 23 ruling by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that the Mississippi town of Shaw was required to bring about "equalization" of services for white and black areas. The appeals court found that nearly all homes fronting unpaved streets and without sewers were inhabited by blacks and that this amounted to discrimination.

Fire claims a similar situation exists in Indian Town, a narrow strip of plank and tarpaper shacks near the business district of this county seat of 3,800.

In his suit on behalf of all Indian Town's residents, he said the predominantly white uphill section has paved streets, sidewalks, drainage systems, electricity, sewage and other services that are lacking in Indian Town.

"At all times, but especially during the spring, rain and melting snow funnel efficiently and rapidly down the paved streets and gutters and flood into Indian Town," the suit said.

The mayor said steps were being taken to create a city planning commission and a housing authority to study some of Winner's problems.

"These charges of discrimination are ridiculous. But we haven't ignored this district because Indians live there. That just isn't true," he said.

Fire's lawyers have told him not to discuss the case while its pending but John King, a neighbor and a Sioux, said the suit is not backed by all Indians in the area.

"People in this town are unhappy with John Fire," said King, who is a community organizer for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

"He is even having difficulty with other Indians. Their attitude is that John Fire is causing trouble. Many of them are afraid they'll lose their jobs with the city or that the city will cut their lights off if they're two days late with their bill."

Bombed Treasure

Won't Discipline Captain

PHNOM PENH (AP) — The Cambodian army apparently plans no disciplinary action against a captain who ordered an artillery barrage that did severe damage to Angkor Wat, Cambodia's national treasure.

The huge 12th century temple was shelled three months ago, authoritative sources said, but the government kept the incident secret.

Angkor, the ancient Khmer capital in the northwest, was occupied by Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers last June. Government forces were ordered not to attack for fear that fighting would damage the ruins, which include the temple of Angkor Wat and the adjacent Angkor Thom.

The shelling killed or wounded about 10 peasant refugees in a nearby pagoda and heavily damaged the south side of Angkor Wat.

Informed sources said the barrage was ordered by a battery commander without permission from higher authority. The sources reported the officer was transferred outside the area but was not punished, apparently because the high command believed that would hurt army morale.

Reports of the shelling came from travelers returning from Siem Reap, the town nearest Angkor. The reports later were confirmed by a government expert who saw photographs of the damage.

The sources reported:

The 105mm howitzer barrage hit the south side of the main temple, destroying the third floor of the southern gate.

One shell smashed into the second-floor gallery and three more exploded in the gallery of history on the first floor, damaging a fresco depicting the story of the Khmer empire.

Seven rounds also hit the nearby pagoda where the refugees were living.

Angkor was built from the 9th to the 12th centuries as the capital of the Khmer empire. It was abandoned in favor of Phnom Penh in the 15th century after Thai invaders plundered and sacked the vast collections of temples, palaces and other buildings. The jungle moved in, and the ruins were forgotten until the French discovered them in 1960.

French archeologists cleared away the jungle in the first part of this century and have continued their work on the ruins despite the end of French rule in Indochina and the shifting tides of politics and war in Cambodia.

24th Concert Presented By Choral Club

A large audience Tuesday night saw the 24th annual spring concert performance by the Sedalia Men's Choral Club in the Smith-Cotton High School auditorium.

The concert theme "Old Time Favorites," featured such well known numbers as "Catch a Falling Star," "Seventy-Six Trombones" and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Special solos were sung by Bob Rialti and Al Domingue, and a medley of piano numbers was done by Jim Edwards.

Also highlighting the night's program was a traditional duet by Domingue and John Vandekamp.

New officers elected for the coming year are Robert Woolery, president; Rialti, vice-president; Lee Dow, treasurer; Ad Taylor, secretary; and Bill Morgan, librarian.

Director of the club is John Vandekamp and assistant director is Raymond Hall. Mrs. Keith Maynard is accompanist for the group.

Los Angeles Policeman 'Lived' His Writing Experiences

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Wambaugh is a Los Angeles policeman who writes novels in much the same way he deals with crimes. He gathers the evidence and then goes for the solution.

Wambaugh — detective sergeant, burglary squad, Hollenbeck Division—spent "eight years living" his first novel and just six months "putting it on paper." He mailed the bulky manuscript off without the aid of an agent and it was accepted by the first house he submitted it to, something similar to a 98-to-1 shot coming in first at the race track.

After "a little cutting, a little rewriting," it appeared as "The New Centurions," and rapidly moved onto the best-seller lists soon after it appeared in the book shops, became a "Book-of-the-Month Club" selection, and recently was picked up for filming by Columbia Pictures.

"I tried to put my whole life into it, to make it as true to life as I could," Wambaugh says of the book, which deals with the lives of three Los Angeles policemen from cadet school through the fury of the Watts riots of 1965.

"I wrote it because no story I'd ever heard or seen captured the life style of a cop. You can capture scenes in the life of a cop but you can't capture his way of life until after you've been a cop and for a good, long time."

An amiable, short, dark-haired man, Wambaugh at 34 has been a policeman for 11 years, all the way from covering a beat, to vice squad, to his present plainclothes job. "I couldn't have written the book early in my career," he says. "I had to live it first."

It took him a while. The son of a man who was a policeman in East Pittsburgh, Pa., for "six or seven years," Wambaugh joined the Marines at 17, got married at 18, and went to college after his discharge, at the same time working in a steel mill in Fontana, Calif., to support his family. He planned to become a teacher but gave that up and joined the police force instead.

"I don't really know why," he says. "I sort of drifted in, the way the three guys in my book drift in. The money with the police was better than it was in the steel mill. And, maybe, it's because my father was a policeman. Perhaps it's possible that first impressions are lasting."

While an officer he went to college part-time for 12 years to earn a B.A. and an M.A. in English literature.

The commercial success of the book obviously pleases Wambaugh, but he doesn't intend to stop being a policeman. He plans to stay on the force for another nine years, when he'll be eligible for retirement, because "I like being a cop." Even more pleasing to him is the response his novel has gotten from policemen across the nation.

"I'm getting letters and even telegrams from officers all over the country," Wambaugh grins. "Most of them say, 'I'm glad someone said these things. I always wanted to say them but didn't.' A lot of the young cops tell me the book is 'right on.' And I got a letter from a Cincinnati, Ohio, officer who wrote that when he got to the part in the book where one of the guys is shot in the stomach 'it made me cry, because I was once shot the same way.'"

During his career of "eight years on the streets and three as a detective," Wambaugh has been shot at only once, except for the Watts riot.

"It's not a commonplace experience to be shot at or to use your own gun," he says. He's used his own gun but "I never hit anybody." The only time he's been unvolved in a violent death was "some foolish barroom incident where a guy got mad and went home and got his shotgun. We answered the call and when we got there the guy with the shotgun shot at us. The officer with me shot and killed him."

During the Watts trouble there "was gunfire all over the place. It was bewildering and it was frightening. All of us were on duty almost continuously for three days. It seemed like Custer's Last Stand for a while. Even the biggest and the bravest wanted to be elsewhere."

The Watts riot convinced Wambaugh that "no police department can control a riot. There aren't enough cops or equipment. A riot shouldn't be allowed to develop and if it does don't expect a police force of a couple of thousand to do something because they can't. Call in the Marines, or something."

Wambaugh now is putting the finishing touches on a second novel. "It's called 'The Blue Knight', and it's about a fat and 50 cop who has been on the beat for 20 years. He's growing old and he's contemplating retirement. A cop is damn old if he's still wearing that blue coat and is on the beat at 50."

Honored at Reception

A reception followed the Monday evening meeting of the Cosmopolitan Junior Women's Club to honor outgoing president, Mrs. James Holman (right) and incoming president, Mrs. J Bartley (center). Mrs. Richard Parkhurst (left) was hostess for the evening's meeting and reception. Mrs. Holman was also presented with a gift from the group for her service.

Program Notes Music Week

A tribute to national music week was presented by members of the Helen G. Steele Music Club Chorus at the Monday meeting of the Cosmopolitan Junior Women's Club at the home of Mrs. Richard Parkhurst.

Mrs. Bill McLaughlin, Mrs. Gary Schwartz, Mrs. Barry Williams and Mrs. Duane Slagel presented a variety of songs and piano solos ranging from Scott Joplin's "Maple Leaf Rag" to the theme of Romeo and Juliet, "A Time For Us."

Mrs. J Bartley, president, introduced guests, Mrs. Paul Williams and Mrs. Luther Jordan.

Mrs. Donald Thomas introduced Terry Young of Smith-Cotton High School and Paul Byker, Sacred Heart High School, who served as representatives of the club at the annual sophomore pilgrimage. The students told about their visits to the capitol building, supreme court building and the governor's mansion. Certificates will be presented to the students at their school awards program this month.

Mrs. James Holman, past president, introduced Mrs. Kenneth Moore, women's editor of The Democrat, and presented her with a gift for her cooperation with the club during the past year.

Mrs. James Edwards, past community improvement chairman, asked members to visit Fairview and Rest Haven nursing homes May 13 and 19 to distribute spring favors made by club members. Mrs. Robert Nelson reported that 468 toys had been donated to Bothwell Memorial Hospital during the last year.

Mrs. Holman reported on the state MFWC convention held recently and noted that the club received a white ribbon for its yearbook. Mrs. Alan Diehl reported on the recent fifth district meeting.

Mrs. Bartley presented each member with a sesquicentennial pin and bumper sticker in observance of Missouri's 150th birthday.

All past president's of the club were presented with sesquicentennial medallions. Present were Mrs. Bill McLaughlin, Mrs. Don Magathan and Mrs. James Holman.

Mrs. Holman also received a GFWC charm for her past leadership.

Since this meeting was the organizational session for the coming year, the following projects were adopted: State School No. 21; puppets for the pediatric ward at the hospital; Christmas caroling to nursing homes and shut-ins; a donation to the Children's Therapy Center; a donation to the American Field Service student; a donation to Girls Town; a donation to Stohr home for retarded children; participate in the Christmas parade;

Send students to the sophomore pilgrimage; participate in junior GFWC project, "Project Concern;" provide a scholarship to State Fair Community College and donations to other statewide projects.

Plans were made to participate in the sidewalk bazaar July 26 and the meeting closed with the club collect.

Mrs. Loveland Is Honored by Sorority

Mrs. Barbara Loveland received special recognition at the Monday meeting of Xi Beta Upsilon held at the home of Mrs. Ed Lyles. Mrs. Loveland will be transferring her membership to a Phoenix, Ariz., chapter where she and her family will reside.

Long active in community affairs, Mrs. Loveland was cited particularly for her accomplishments in Beta Sigma Phi; as co-ordinator for the Queen of Fairs; director of Miss Sedalia pageants; Bible School leader in the First Christian Church; Jaycee Wives activities; scouting activities; and various activities with the United Fund where she has been employed for the last several years.

On behalf of the chapter, a Beta Sigma Phi charm was presented to Mrs. Loveland and later in the evening, a party at LeRoy's Steak House, was held in her honor.

The annual budgetary format was presented and Mrs. Bob Schmeider and Mrs. Felix Melvin, ways and means chairmen, announced the budget would be met in part by a spring-summer style show at Gibson's Discount Department Store, May 22. Proceeds from the event will help finance the sorority's philanthropic efforts for the year which annually include contributions to the community nursing homes, Cancer Fund, American Field Service, and aid to the Missouri Valley Human Resources organization.

Mrs. Bob Nichols presented the program with a series of slides highlighting points of interest in the United States. Mrs. Barney Sullivan, who has visited 49 of the 50 states provided the commentary.

For Women

Beta Xi Sorority Plans Activities

Mrs. David Backer was host Monday evening to Beta Xi chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

Most of the evening was spent planning the 1971-72 year. President, Mrs. Robert Bohm, presented her theme "Show-Me—Missouri" and educational director, Mrs. Kimball Iman, assigned educational programs on Missouri to each member. Mrs. Gary McBain, philanthropic chairman, reported the club would visit Fairview Nursing Home on May 22.

Social chairman, Mrs. D'wayne Steele reported that the Founder's Day Banquet for members and their husbands would be held Saturday. At this time installation of officers will be held and three girls will receive the Pallas Athene Awards.

Educational director, Mrs. Iman, was presented a Gold Link Award at state convention. This award is presented to chapters who report their educational programs each month.

Mrs. Bohm, Mrs. Gary Lower, Mrs. David Backer, Mrs. John Cross Jr., Mrs. Dennis Hotchkiss, Mrs. Iman, and Mrs. Ray Haley, received a special recognition award at convention for organizing the new chapter.

The educational program, "Building for the Future of Beta Xi of ESA," was presented by Mrs. Iman.

About Town

Mrs. Valeda E. Foster, 1800 South Park spent the weekend visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schupp and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell M. Foster, Kansas City.

Mrs. Bernard Stanfield, 1634 Honeysuckle and her daughter Miss Jo Dickey, Miami, Fla., recently returned from a tour of Portugal, Greece, Italy and the Isle of Capri.

Club Notes

The Longwood Extension Club met recently with Mrs. James Harvey. Members were given leaflets on pesticide safety and farm safety and a program "Eat to Live, Not Live to Eat," was given by Mrs. John Leftwich. She stressed reducing calories as one grows older as being overweight is a strain on the heart.

Tours were taken of the Little Red School House, Ravenwood and a luncheon followed at the Windmill. A weiner roast was planned for May 22 with the Longwood Neighbors 4-H club to be guests.

Guests for the meeting were Mrs. Catherine Luker and Mrs. Jason Chamberlin.

In recognition of National Music Week, the Smithton High School Madrigal Singers entertained the Maplewood Homemakers Club at the home of Mrs. Don Wood Monday. Under the direction of Miss Anne Zumsteg, the group sang several selections including, "A Time For Us."

Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Hughes, Windsor, recently entertained the Sedalia Rose Society. Plans were made to hold a Rose Show in June at the home of Mrs. Wilford Acker.

Ed Brummet reported on articles from the American Rose magazine citing the uses of minerals and new sprays. "Anticipation" was the title of exhibits shown by Mrs. Perry Strole, Mrs. Paul Read and Mrs. James Richardson.

Polly's Pointers

Snap Fasteners No Snap

By POLLY CRAMER
Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — Several of us women sew for the children in a home and we would like to know how to remove snap fasteners from boys' pants. They get damaged in washing and will not snap, so we would like to replace them with buttons. These snaps are above the zippers. — GLADYS

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the magazines that have all those stiff inserts between the pages. Last week, when the latest copy of a popular woman's magazine came, I had to remove seven of these in order to turn the pages properly and so it would open flat. Then, another came with five of these inserts. It is becoming a bore and a nuisance to leaf through a magazine to remove this junk before I can enjoy reading it. — E. C. M.

DEAR POLLY — Heidi can keep her aprons neat at school and at home by hanging them on coat hangers. With clip fasteners, she can fasten the front waistband to the lower rim of the hanger to hang them straight or fold if she wishes. — MRS. V.S.

DEAR POLLY — My husband and I were raking leaves and debris from our flower beds to get them ready for spring and were putting this trash into plastic garbage bags but needed something to hold them up for easier filling. I remembered some old TV trays with stands in the garage, so I took the tray off one and stood the stand up. I put the bag inside the stand. I clipped the top of the bag to the stand with four clothespins so they held it up and open and made it easier for us to fill. My husband and I both have used many of your helpful Pointers. — NITA

Epsilon Beta Has Mother's Day Tea

Epsilon Beta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Monday at the Old Missouri Homestead for its annual Mother's Day Tea. Guests included mothers and friends of members.

The program was presented by the State Fair Community College Singers who sang a medley of songs from "Fiddler On The Roof." They were directed by Mrs. Carl Schrader and accompanied by Miss Joan Baker.

Mrs. Melvin Schroeder, president, introduced guests and announced that Mrs. Don Swearngin had been selected "Girl of the Year." A gift was presented to Mrs. Swearngin for her work during the past year. A gift was also presented to Mrs. Gene Lowe who will be moving out of town.

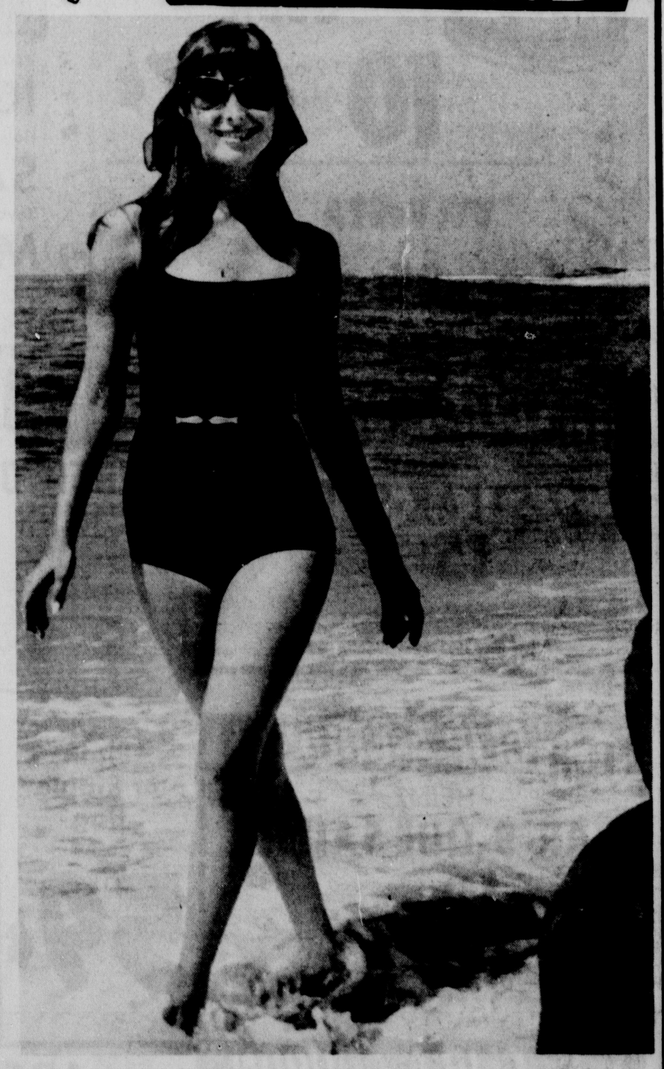

Gifts were also presented to Mrs. Ben Pummill, immediate past president, and Mrs. Victor Gill, sponsor. Mrs. Gerald Rothe, social chairman was in charge of the tea and Mrs. Peter Holloway served as co-hostess.

Special Bumper Gains Attention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators investigating the high cost of auto repairs have been shown a bumper designed by an inventor who claims it is cheaper, more efficient and safer than bumpers planned by the auto industry to meet new federal regulations for 1973 models.

After watching movies of tests and taking test drives into a Senate Office building loading platform at more than 5 miles an hour, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said he was impressed.

He appeared to he slightly shaken by one jolt after riding a bright red American Motors Hornet into the platform. But he was not hurt and neither was the car.

Hart said he would demand the Department of Transportation tell the Senate Commerce Committee why it suggested putting off new bumper standards until 1973 when, if the claims of inventor Paul Taylor of Buffalo, N.Y., are true, high impact bumpers could be installed on next year's models.

Taylor and his 23-year-old son, Doug, a mechanical engineer, said, DOT has repeatedly ignored attempts to call its attention to their device, which works like a shock absorber. In other words, a plunger is forced by the impact into a cylinder filled with compressible silicone oil.

The Taylors also said DOT has ignored their warnings that rigid or spring-supported bumpers planned by some automakers could simply pass the force of an impact to the car's occupants.

They said they have offered to sell their devices to the automakers at $5.60 a unit or less than $25 a car.

The industry Monday told the committee that DOT bumper regulations will boost car prices by $100.

The Department of Transportation has decreed bumpers on 1973 autos must be capable of withstanding a 5 miles-per-hour impact in front and an impact of 2.5 m.p.h. in the rear without damage to safety features. The rear bumper standard goes to 4 m.p.h. by 1974.

In movies of tests they said were filmed last Friday and in the demonstration for senators, the Taylor's Hornet withstood impacts both front and back of more than 5 m.p.h. with no damage at all. In one of the filmed tests, however, the engine was shaken loose by a 7.5 m.p.h. impact although there was no visible damage to the car's exterior.

Continue Testimony In Narcotics Bribe

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Edward LeBlanc, the official court reporter for Pueblo Dist. Court Judge S. Philip Cabibi, told a district court jury Tuesday he saw Thomas Incerto visit Cabibi in chambers four or five times between 1962 and 1965.

LeBlanc was on the witness stand in the bribery and conspiracy trial of Cabibi and Incerto, both, of Pueblo.

Cabibi, 56, and Incerto, 66, were indicted by an El Paso County Grand Jury Nov. 17. They were charged with accepting a bribe from Melvin L. McCallon of St. Joseph, Mo., on June 10 in return for his probation on a narcotics violation. They were also charged with conspiring together to commit, bribery.

Another witness, John Naylor, a Pueblo attorney, testified that on Dec. 16, 1969, Cabibi asked him to represent McCallon on the narcotics charge. Naylor testified that his client applied for probation on Jan. 16, 1970, saying he had nine children. However, Naylor said, this application was turned down by Cabibi.

McCallon was sentenced Feb. 9, 1970, to a 10-50-12 year term in the State Penitentiary.

Cabibi then called Naylor on March 12, the witness testified, saying he had received a letter from McCallon and thought he would reconsider McCallon's application for probation.

Meanwhile, another witness, Clifford McCallon Jr., McCallon's son, said he received a phone call from Incerto on March 11 saying that a hearing had been set for his father later that month. This was one day before Cabibi allegedly called Naylor to inform him of the possibility of another hearing.

On March 26, McCallon was granted five years probation by Cabibi and left the prison the next month.

Name Commander At Scott Air Base

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AP) — Col. Charles E. Shannon was named Scott Air Force Base commander Tuesday.

He replaces Col. Kenneth B. Clark, a Kansas City native, who is being reassigned to Puerto Rico. Clark is a veteran of 32 years and was a P38 pilot in the Pacific during World War II.

Q—Why are non-public school children included in the public school census taken each year when public schools ask for federal and state aid? Isn't it a bit unfair for the students attending non-public schools to be counted when they receive no state or federal aid?—J.W.T.

A—Dick Kimble, assistant superintendent of Sedalia schools, said that the census law requires that the enumeration of all persons in the school district between the ages of six and 20 be taken. "According to the law, it does not matter whether these young people are attending public school, a parochial school, have dropped out of school or even attend a university because if they live here they are counted," Kimble said. He said the law requires that a census be taken at least once in every five-year period. "Because the census was taken last year, there will be no school census this year," Kimble said.

Q—Why is one super market allowed to sell all merchandise, including hardware and clothing, on Sundays while all the others obey the state law? If the answer from law enforcement agents is lack of complaints, then do all lawbreakers need to have a complaining witness before being arrested?—G.W.H.

A—Adam Fischer, county prosecuter, said that the so-called blue laws can be enforced only if an individual makes a complaint directly to his office. The complaining witness must also be prepared to testify in court. Concerning your second question, it was learned the lack of complaining witnesses in court cases can often mean that charges against a person may be dropped. In felony cases, however, charges are usually filed by the prosecuting attorney and are based on facts he obtained from witnesses to the crime.

Q—I'd like to know why two men accused of breaking into a building are placed on a $3,000 bail bond each, while two men who are charged with molesting a minor are placed on $1,500 bail bond each? I'd also like to know what rule of thumb our court system uses in setting these bonds and who is responsible for setting them?—C.K.L.

A—Adam Fischer, prosecuting attorney, said that setting bail bonds is left to the discretion of the magistrate judge. In each instance, however, bonds are based on the type of charges filed against an individual. In the breaking-and-entering case you mentioned, charges of second degree burglary were filed. Such a case is a felony and conviction can result in prison terms of two to 10 years in the state penitentiary. The child molestation case, on the other hand, is classified as a "graded felony," Fischer said, and carries lesser punishment under state law. Such a charge falls somewhere between a misdemeanor and a felony, and can be punishable, upon conviction, by six months to a year in the county jail or one to five years in the state penitentiary. The type of charge filed, he emphasized, also depends on the exact nature of the offense and generally governs the amount of bond set by a judge.

People In The News

PLYMOUTH, England (AP) — Sir Francis Chichester's unsuccessful try at sailing alone 4,000 miles across the South Atlantic in 20 days has ended here.

The 69-year-old yachtsman sailed into Plymouth Tuesday night. He sailed from Plymouth on Dec. 18 for the South Atlantic bid, but failed to cover the distance in the time he had set for himself.

Sir Francis arrived in San Juan del Norte, Nicaragua, 22½ days after leaving Bissau, Portuguese Guinea, in West Africa. He had described his goal as the yachtsman's "four-minute mile."

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Apollo 14 astronaut Edgar D. Mitchell will receive an honorary doctorate of engineering degree next Monday at commencement exercises of his alma mater, Carnegie-Mellon University.

Preventive Detention Draws Senator's Ire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Jr., D-N.C., urged the Justice Department today to put aside the "vain and false panacea of preventive detention" and to support legislation to secure speedy trials of federal criminal cases.

He said "The Justice Department has so far maintained a stolid silence" on a bill he introduced nearly a year ago. The measure, in general, would require federal criminal defendants to be brought to trial within 60 days.

Ervin has urged this as an alternative to preventive detention, under which a judge may order persons accused of certain crimes held for trial without bail for up to 60 days if he finds their release would endanger the community.

Preventive detention was included in a District of Columbia crime bill passed by Congress last year, but the Justice Department was unable to win passage of a bill to permit it in federal courts throughout the country.

Ervin said his bill now has 42 senators as sponsors and President Nixon and Chief Justice Warren E. Burger have spoken strongly in support of speedy criminal trials.

He quoted Nixon as telling the National Conference, on the Judiciary a few weeks ago that "this is not an impossible goal," that "in criminal cases in Great Britain today, most accused persons are brought to trial within 60 days after arrest."

And he said Burger had predicted in an address to the American Bar Association the crime rate would be reduced sharply if criminal cases were tried within 60 days after indictment.

MILK PUNCH

Sure. Milk Punch. It's quick and easy, and a fresh new way to serve a fresh, cool favorite: Foremost Vitamin D Milk. Just mix these things all together and pretend it's New Year's Eve:

Milk Punch
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. nutmeg
¼ tsp. salt
¼ cup honey
1½ qts. Foremost milk
1 cup fresh strawberries sliced (or fruit of your choice)

Add cinnamon, nutmeg, salt and honey to milk. Beat to blend thoroughly. Add fresh fruit and chill at least ½ hour. Makes 12 punch cup servings.

Foremost. The Freshmost.

New York Leader In Abortion Scandal

New York, the trend-setter for the nation in many areas, continues to lead America down a moral blind alley as far as liberalized, legal abortions are concerned.

A recent press release announces the opening of a fully accredited hospital in New York City whose sole purpose is to set up a "model abortion program." Among the advantages of the new hospital, the release says, is the fact that only board-certified obstetricians and gynecologists perform abortions.

What a perversion of medical training! One is reminded of Ray Bradbury's futuristic novel, "Fahrenheit 451," in which social values have become so distorted that firemen SET fires rather than put them out.

From the Abortion Information Agency, also in New York, comes an attractive brochure entitled, "A Need Fulfilled." It explains in soothing, professional prose, how "...safe, legal, compassionate abortion services (are) available without delay and at reasonable cost."

It is all so comforting, so painless. So morally bankrupt.

Common to all such pro-abortion propaganda is the notion that abortion is a personal decision to be made solely by the woman in question. "Your reasons may be a private matter of your own," assures one pamphlet.

Nowhere, at no time, does anyone speak for the unborn child.

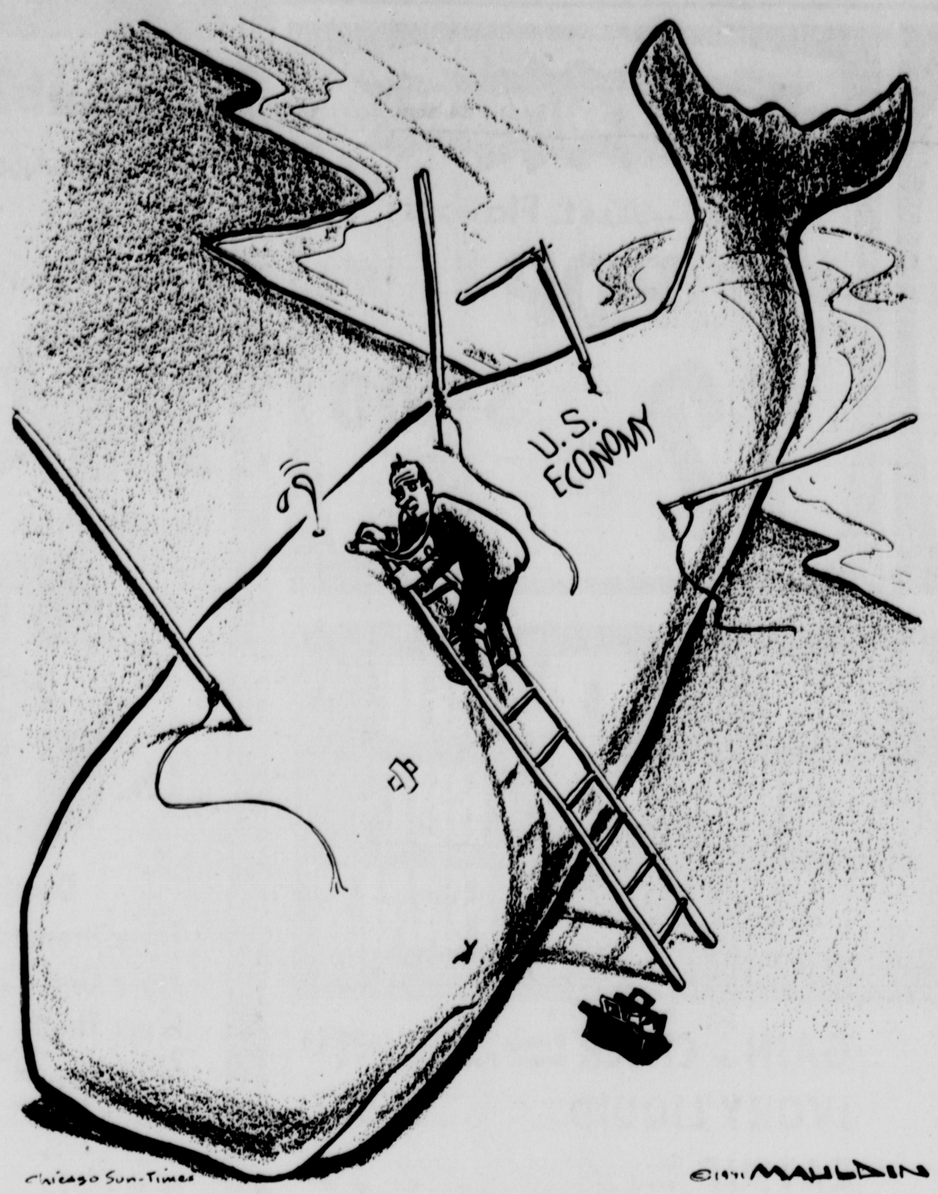

In New York today it is possible to have an abortion up to the 24th week of pregnancy — no questions asked. No consent is needed if you are 17 or older.

Although the abortion lobby doesn't like to talk about it, let's discuss briefly what we are aborting at 24 weeks, or 16 weeks, or six for that matter.

At six weeks the unborn infant registers brain waves. The fetal heart is audible at 12 weeks. The mother can feel abdominal movements by the 16th week. By the time 24 weeks have passed, you are aborting the life of an essentially completely-formed human being.

Missouri considered bills this session to liberalize the current abortion law, which says that an abortion cannot be performed unless the mother's life is in danger. No doubt there will be repeated attempts in future sessions.

There is not much Missourians can do about the kind of laws that are passed in New York. But they can — and should — guard against the same thing happening here.

BERRY'S WORLD

Hoover Lives High On Texas Oilman

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Late last year, we decided to turn the tables on J. Edgar Hoover, who for 47 years has been running investigations of others. We, therefore, began an FBI-style investigation of the FBI chief.

This attracted considerable attention in the nation's newspapers and magazines. The ABC network showed a film of my reporter, Charles Elliott, rummaging through Hoover's trash. Our discovery of rich dinner menus and empty Gelusil cartons, leading us to conclude that the great crime fighter suffers from gas pains, was widely publicized.

But our investigation has uncovered facts far more newsworthy than Hoover's indigestion.

We found that the durable old G-man and his faithful companion Clyde Tolson, both bachelors, both now in their 70's, vacationed together each summer at LaJolla, Calif., where Hoover liked to attend the races.

They stayed in $100-a-day suites at the Hotel Del Charro near the Del Mar track. The FBI pair never paid their bills, which were picked up by Texas oil millionaire Clint Murchison, the hotel owner.

The former hotel manager, Alan Witwer, told us, while he was there Hoover ran up a total tab of over $15,000 picked up by Murchison. A typical thank-you letter, signed "Edgar," said:

"It is always hard to leave one's friends after such an enjoyable stay as Clyde and I have had these past few weeks ... We appreciated the superb accommodations and your many contributions toward our comfort and enjoyment of this trip."

Our investigations also produced the startling fact that the taxpayers provide Hoover with five bulletproof limousines, three more than are available to the President.

Two of Hoover's limousines are kept in Washington, the other three in Los Angeles, Miami and New York City. Annual costs: more than $50,000 a year. A check of the mileage run up by the five cars will show they have been held largely for Hoover's exclusive use.

We found, too, that Hoover had circumvented the law to keep his ailing sidekick in the FBI. Tolson, having reached the mandatory retirement age of 70, needed a presidential waiver to remain on active duty. But he had suffered a series of minor strokes and had undergone delicate aortal surgery. He could have have passed the physical, which is required for a presidential waiver.

Hoover got around the law by retiring his old friend, then bringing him back. The FBI chief used a legal provision which allows the employment of retired personnel temporarily to complete a project they were working on at the time of their mandatory retirement.

But most serious of all, Hoover used FBI personnel to research and write three books, which have brought him over $250,000 in royalties. The books were produced, in other words, at the taxpayers' expense. But royalty checks were made out to Hoover personally.

J. Edgar Hoover has built the FBI into a law enforcement agency with a reputation unmatched anywhere in the world. It is also a tribute to Hoover and the FBI that they are denounced with equal ferocity by the extremists of the left and the right.

But our investigation has uncovered conduct that is curious, indeed, for the man who has become symbolic of the fight against evil doers. It is past time for the indomitable old man to retire. The FBI will survive quite well, since he has given it a firm foundation.

Fireworks Smuggling — Mafia fireworks hustlers are scheming to sneak high-powered Singapore firecrackers past Customs inspectors in time for July 4. Probable entry port will be Los Angeles or Baltimore. In the past, the Mafia fireworks men have joked about the ease with which they slipped contraband fireworks past the supposedly keen-eyed Customs men. They avoided high duties by labeling their fireworks "Container made in U.S.," thus cutting down the Customs assessment. A schoolboy could have opened up the cones and tubes and found the containers were made from old Hong Kong newspapers.

Land Barons — The Bureau of Reclamation tried valiantly to get the Justice Department to appeal a court decision favoring the land barons and undercutting small family farms in California's Imperial Valley. But the Bureau was turned down after big GOP contributors took their case directly to Justice.

Political Payoff — N. W. Ayer and Son, the ad agency whose subsidiary produced those savage smear ads against eight liberal Democratic senators on the eve of the 1970 election, has been awarded the $10.6 million contract to produce the Army's controversial recruiting commercials. The nonpartisan Fair Campaign Practices Committee awarded the Ayer political ads "worst place" for the 1970 campaign.

GI Addicts — We have had access to three Pentagon reports on drug addiction among servicemen in Vietnam. Taken together, these reports indicate at least 15,000 heroin addicts will soon return to the U.S. where, almost certainly, they will be compelled to take up crime to finance their habit.

Deadliest Poison

The black-and-gold Kokoa frogs of South America exude the world's deadliest poison. Indians get poison from the frogs for their blowgun darts. The secretion from one of the inch-long amphibians yields enough poison for 50 darts. There is no antidote. Dried venom has remained lethal for 15 years.

Comet's Tail

A comet's tail usually points away from the sun because forces from the sun drive tenuous gases away from the head of a comet to make its tail.

Business Mirror

Skyscraper Technology Is Blamed

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Early in 1970 the 50-story building called One New York Plaza was completed. It was among the finest; its builders used the latest design concepts, the most modern materials, the most advanced construction.

Sensitive buttons on the elevators responded to the heat of a fingertip. The air-conditioning system maintained perfect temperature and humidity in the sealed structure. It was "fire resistant," of course. It adhered to the building code.

On Aug. 5 a fire broke out on the 33rd floor. A guard pulled an alarm and then took an elevator to the ground floor to notify the building crew. Two other employes returned with him to warn occupants of the floors above.

They pushed the button for the 39th floor. Responding to heat, the elevator stopped at the 33rd and the doors opened into the inferno. Two men died, the other was found barely alive. Thirty persons were injured. Damage was estimated at $10 million.

Fire Chief John O'Hagen blamed the air-conditioning system primarily. He said the fans continued to operate after start of the fire, quickly spreading smoke and heat.

In addition, he said, the plenum, or concealed space between ceiling and floor above, used as part of the air-conditioning system, served as an artery for heat and fire.

The central core of elevator shafts and electrical services, standard on skyscrapers, became a funnel for heat, poured there by return air fans. Wiring was quickly destroyed.

Moreover, it was found, there was a space of about 16 inches between the metal skin and the curtain wall. Not only was the heat confined within the building, but it was drafted upward through this aperture.

Incredibly, the very modernity of the building was blamed by officials for making the fire more intense, faster spreading and harder to fight. Because of the heat, firemen had to be relieved every 10 minutes.

As they learned the facts, engineers, insurance men, building owners and tenants were shocked to realize that the same type of structure exists or is being built in almost every American Metropolis.

The ingredients were there for repetitions. In fact, a somewhat similar fire killed two in New York four months later.

The American Insurance Association called a forum on the situation. And many suggestions were made: horizontal fire barriers, elimination of elevator call buttons activated by heat, installation of sensing devices to shut down air-conditioner fans, use of thermal insulation on wiring, installation of automatic sprinklers.

Double Standard?

Reagan's Tax Claim Also a 'Legal Fraud'

By CARL T. ROWAN

MILWAUKEE — Out here in middle America, where they still think paying taxes is a virtue, California Gov. Ronald Reagan is the subject of more whispering than the country club drunk.

You'd think the old Hollywood-hoofer-turned-taxpayers'-protector had been caught behind the chicken coop with Rhode Island red feathers falling beneath his bulging coat.

Rowan

The almost - certain truth is that Reagan was totally within the law in not paying California taxes on his salary of $44,100 last year. He simply used the same tax law technicalities and loopholes employed by thousands of other wealthy Americans to let paper losses on investments wipe out his salary income.

So it is a bum rap to assail Reagan as though he were a tax-dodger. He is probably guilty of nothing more than letting his mouth overload his morality.

Reagan has made a semi-career of vetoing anti-poverty grants and launching pious attacks on welfare recipients, recently with such a flair as to win the admiration of President Nixon.

When some families took advantage of technicalities to get welfare money, Reagan moralized thusly:

"We're caught up in a legal kind of cheating on this. It isn't cheating in the technical sense because it's all legal and above board under existing federal regulations."

You tell middle Americans that Reagan committed no crime when he found a tax consultant with a sharp pencil, and they say, "It's technically legal, but it's still a fraud."

This case points up the galling sanctimoniousness of a lot of politicians when they sound off about the poor, the hungry, the legally indigent.

The guy with 10 fast-buck operations going is the one who wants to tell you how welfare checks ruin the characters of the recipients.

Well, poor people can start weeping about the damage that will be done to the characters of Lockheed executives when Uncle Sam pops for a $250 million loan guarantee.

Reagan is right, of course, when he deplores a situation where "taxpayers" (he likes the word) spend $1,340,000,000 a year on 14 million welfare recipients. Anyone but a fool would prefer that all the country's adults were healthy and well trained and that the economy were strong enough to provide jobs for them all.

But $1.3 billion for 14 million blind, disabled, aged, or dependent people ceases to seem like all the gold in Fort Knox when you note that the administration, by executive fiat, wants to give $3 billion to $5 billion to corporations this year through extra-generous tax depreciation procedures.

The rationale for this multi-billion-dollar windfall for businesses apparently is that this money is needed to prime the economy and ease unemployment.

But why doesn't anyone ever speak of the $1.3 billion in welfare checks as money to warm up the economy and ward off recession? Those welfare dollars buy meat, milk, bread, clothing, medicine, shelter — so they get into the economy pretty fast. That bonanza for the corporations goes through a few secret passages before it shows up in the general economy.

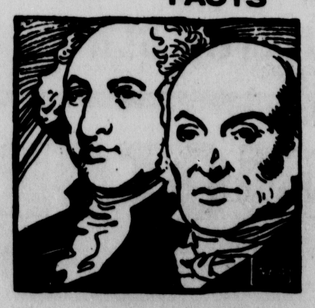

Reagan is screaming that newsmen invaded his privacy by asking questions about his tax bill payments, a rather strange reaction for a governor who would have people peeking into and under the beds of welfare mothers to see if they ever know the company of men.

But the meddling newsmen have served Americans well, for they have given a new reason to be leery of politicians who parade as the taxpayer's best friend.

Enough of this and the sometimes-gullible public just might ponder with greater care and compassion this double standard that politicians apply on great issues of social and economic reform.

Opening lead—♥ 4

By Oswald & James Jacoby

We don't recommend West's two-heart bid as a steady diet, but in top-flight competition it pays to keep pressure on your opponents and Billy Eisenberg elected to bid it. He did have six points for his weak two bid, but had to count three jacks to get to that six points.

The hand came up early in our match against China. It didn't shut out Conrad Cheng. He doubled. Elmer Hsiao, sitting South, responded three diamonds. Cheng cue bid three hearts and Bobby Goldman doubled to show something in his partner's suit. The bidding continued with both Chinese considering a slam, but finally settling for a five-diamond contract.

Hearts were opened and continued. Hsiao ruffed the second heart in dummy, cashed the ace and queen of trumps, came to his hand with the king of clubs, drew East's last two trumps and claimed the balance.

At the other table the Chinese East-West pair put on even more pressure. M. F. Tai opened three hearts. Bob Hammann doubled. Pat Huang went to four hearts and it was up to Mike Lawrence to do something.

He knew he was being fixed, but decided to follow the principle of being fixed, but getting a sure plus score. He doubled four hearts. The best Tai could do was to gather in six tricks so Mike and Bob were plus 700 to give us a 7 IMP gain.

Looking back at the other table China might well have bid the slam, if Billy had kept quiet.

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT

Sedalia, Missouri, Wednesday, May 12, 1971—Section C

The Calley Story—Conclusion

Decision of Court-Martial Created Much Turmoil

By ARTHUR EVERETT and KATHRYN JOHNSON and HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writers

Calley's voice was breaking now in a long sigh. Tears filmed his eyes. The faces of the jurors were utterly impassive as he continued:

"If I've committed a crime, the only crime I have committed is in judgment of my values —apparently I have valued my troops' lives more than I did that of the enemy. When my troops were getting massacred and mauled by an enemy I couldn't see, I couldn't feel, and I couldn't touch, that nobody in the military ever described as anything other than communism.

"They didn't give it a race, they didn't give it a sex, they didn't give it an age. They never let me believe it was just a philosophy in a man's mind. That was my enemy out there and when it became between me and that enemy, I had to value the lives of my troops and I feel that is the only crime I have committed."

Nearing the end of his plea, Calley spoke rapidly breathlessly. Still, there was no visible reaction from the jurors as he concluded: "Yesterday, you stripped me of all my honor. Please, by your actions that you take here today, don't strip future soldiers of their honor. I beg of you."

He had spoken for two minutes, 12 seconds.

Now it was Daniel's turn. The prosecutor told the highly experienced military jury: "You did not strip him of his honor. What he did stripped him of his honor. It is not an honor and never can be considered an honor to kill men, women and children."

Daniel did not ask for the death penalty. The minimum penalty possible was life imprisonment.

★ ★ ★

The sentence was reached the next day, March 31. It was read by Ford—life imprisonment, dismissal from the army, and forfeiture of all pay and allowances, totalling in Calley's case $773.10 a month.

The trim military bearing which Calley had so long preserved under such great pressure finally deserted him. His jaw went slack, his body seemed to sag, his face appeared blotched and the salute he managed for Col. Ford was a limp one.

"I'll do my best sir," said Calley to Ford, apropos of nothing.

The conviction of Lt. Calley rasped a national nerve, a very sensitive one. The uproar began before he was even escorted from the courtroom of Building No. 5. It was to go on for days, then weeks, reaching to the White House, to the capitals of the world and back to the crossroads, the living rooms, the consciences of the people of the United States.

The initial outcry heavily favored Calley.

By the hundreds, telegrams poured into Ft. Benning, to Calley, to Judge Kennedy and to the jurors. "Shame, shame, shame," said one wire. "The greatest demoralizing effect on Army since Pearl Harbor ... Couldn't blame men in Vietnam if they collectively reject future orders," said another.

In that first, initial flood of telegrams to Ft. Benning only one supported the guilty verdict

The man who started it all, Ronald Ridenhour, by then a newsman in Vietnam, allowed that too much emphasis was placed on Calley, that "a strong case can be made against the chain of command ... the matter of the body count lent an air of promiscuity to the entire war."

The mail, the telegrams, the pronouncements, the newspaper editorials, the outraged reactions still were in full swing two days after the verdict when the jury returned its sentence of life in prison, which Latimer described as "the lesser of two evils."

Richard Nixon, the President of the United States, was in his western retreat at San Clemente, Calif. Letters to the White House still were running 100-1 against the Calley verdict and sentence. Aides said he spent a sleepless night after hearing what happened at Ft. Benning, even jotting down some notes about it. He consulted with his staff and with Secretary of State William Rogers, Defense Secretary Laird, Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and Treasury Secretary John Connally.

In the afternoon of Thursday, April 1, press secretary Ziegler announced: "At about 12:30, President Nixon called Admiral (Thomas) Moorer (Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff) in Washington and ordered that Lt. Calley not be confined to the stockade at Ft. Benning, Ga. This is not a legal step. This is a step taken at the President's discretion."

Ziegler explained to reporters that the review proceeding "is that the record of the court-martial is being compiled and will then be reviewed by the judge advocate and will then go to the convening authority. In this case, I understand that is the commander of the 3rd Army." In this case, the convening officer was Lt. Gen. Albert O. Connor, commander of the 3rd Army at Ft. McPherson, Ga.

Calley's stay in the stockade lasted a little more than 24 hours from the time he was sentenced to life.

Nixon's order brought expressions of approval. The House of Representatives was told and members applauded. Gov. Carter of Georgia called it a wise decision. Calley's sister, Mrs. Mary Keesling, wrote the Gainesville Sun: "We appreciate the action President Nixon has taken, but we will continue to be anxious until Rusty has been freed."

Nixon's 10-day sojourn at San Clemente was winding down to a close. He had been concentrating on a review of Southeast Asia, preparing himself for an upcoming televised speech on troop withdrawals.

★ ★ ★

On Saturday morning, April 3, reporters gathered in the press room, and Ziegler and John Ehrlichman, assistant to the President on domestic affairs, arrived at 9 a.m. Ziegler began by mentioning the questions raised about Nixon's further action in the Calley case. Then he said: "Yesterday the President made the decision that before any final sentence is carried out in the case of Lt. Calley, the President will personally review the case and finally decide it."

Ehrlichman went into a lengthy explanation. The President, he said, was fortunate to have had the advice of three Cabinet members at San Clemente, all attorneys—Secretary Elliott Richardson of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and a former attorney general of Massachusetts, Secretary John Connally of Treasury and Presidential Counselor Robert Finch. And, Ehrlichman said, Nixon had also consulted with Atty. Gen. Mitchell and Defense Secretary Laird.

Ehrlichman said the widespread public interest in the case was a factor in the President's move. "It is not a determining factor." And he said, "The consideration here was that this different quality of review, the non-legal, non-technical review ought to be part of this review process before any sentence becomes operative."

The White House outlined the multiple avenues Calley could take in his appeals, through the military and federal courts and the powers of the President in the matter. The convening authority—3rd Army commander Connor—would refer the case to his judge advocate for recommendation. Then, Connor could make findings both of the question of guilt and innocence and on the question of sentence. Should the sentence stand, the case would go to the Court of Military Review, then to the Court of Military Appeals.

Ehrlichman added: "The Code of Military Justice does not provide for an appeal to the President of the United States, nor for any mandatory review by the President of the United States in a case of this kind ... The President is saying before the sentence is finally put into operation at any level, he will personally review the case and will make a final decision in the case. This he has the right to do under the Constitution as commander in chief and under the Code of Military Justice.

"The kinds of issues that are before him are more than simply stark legal issues."

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, added some information about what happened backstage at the White House between sentencing and announcement. Staff members had urged rather strongly, he said, that the President set up a committee of the five lawyers in the Cabinet to make the case review, but that the President decided to do it personally "because of a sense of his own constitutional role as commander in chief and because of his background and experience as a lawyer."

★ ★ ★

There was one voice that had not been heard from, but it was not surprising. Aubrey Daniel was not a man who sought the public eye. In more than four months of trial he saved his thoughts for the courtroom, rather than to express them to reporters outside.

But after Calley was released, without telling even his intimates, Daniel sat down and wrote a letter to the President. It was dated April 3, the Saturday that Nixon announced he would review the case.

In part, he addressed himself to the official reaction:

"But how much more appalling it is," he wrote the President, "to see so many of the political leaders of the nation who have failed to see the moral issue or, having seen it, to compromise it for political motive in the face of apparent public displeasure with the verdict...

"In view of your previous statements concerning this matter, I have been particularly shocked and dismayed at your decision to intervene in these proceedings in the midst of the public clamor. Your decision can only have been prompted by the response of a vocal segment of our population, who while no doubt acting in good faith cannot be aware of the evidence which resulted in Lt. Calley's conviction.

"Your intervention has, in my opinion, damaged the military judicial system and lessened any respect it may have gained as a result of the proceedings.

"You have subjected a judicial system of this country to the criticism that it is subject to political influence, when it is a fundamental precept of our judicial system that the legal processes of this country must be kept free from any outside influences."

Daniel concluded by saying he truly regretted having to write the President, "but innocent people were killed under circumstances that will always remain abhorrent to my conscience.

"While in some respects what took place at My Lai has to be considered to be a tragic day in the history of our nation, how much more tragic would it have been for this country to have taken no action against those who were responsible...."

On April 16, 1971, President Nixon submitted to questioning by a group of newsmen. He was asked about Calley.

Since he released the Lieutenant, the President said, "we have seen the fears with regard to the Calley case subside, because they know that he is going to get a fair review and a final review by the President of the United States. I will not pass the buck to a commission or to the Secretary of the Army."

The events that began with a Vietnamese hamlet and an obscure young lieutenant had run all the way up the chain of command, to the President of the United States. It was for him to judge the Massacre of My Lai 4.

Phosphorous Used in Gasoline Additives

By PETER WEAVER

Q — I read your column on no-lead and low-lead gasolines and wonder if the product called Formula CA-101 used in Crown 100-plus gasoline will harm the engine? I think they use phosphorous to replace the lead. — H.D.L., Severna Park, Md.

A — DuPont makes this additive for a number of gasoline companies. A DuPont executive claims the additive contains less than 1.5 parts of phosphorous per million parts of gasoline and is supposed to make engines run smoother.

Phosphorous is a transitional device to help protect some car engines' valves as the lead is taken out of gasoline. Lead forms a chemical salt which coats the valves as a lubricant.

There is no evidence that phosphorous, in small quantities, will hurt your engine. There is evidence that gasoline without any lead or phosphorous might be harmful for some car engines under a heavy load strain, such as hauling a trailer for several hours or long, nonstop freeway driving at high speeds.

If you're using a no-lead gasoline, your best bet is to put leaded gasoline in the tank every 8th to 10th fill-up. You could also use low-lead gasoline without worry. Some of the 1971 car engines have valves made of different metal compounds which do not need lead or phosphorous. Check your owner's manual.

Q — Why can't the principle of air filters be applied to automobile air conditioning? — W.H.P., Alexandria, Va.

A — The air can be contained and cleaned in a home. In a car, you're forever opening doors. Manufacturers claim they can't make an air filter that will really keep the air inside your car clean — and be reasonably priced. It's a pity. We get all those noxious exhaust fumes right in the face.

Q — I keep an eye on a house for neighbors who are away most of the summer. How should I set the air conditioner to help prevent mildew?

A — Set the controls for 80 degrees. In an unused home, it would be too costly to set it lower. Check the air filters regularly and keep them clean. Dirty filters prevent the dehumidifier from working properly. Also, check for dripping faucets and "innocent" moisture sources.

Q — The drain in my second-floor bathroom stopped up. When I called the rental agency, a plumber was sent to open it up. The next day, the drain stopped again (plumber said it was too narrow) and water began leaking into downstairs rooms. They say I have to pay. Isn't the owner responsible for these repairs? — P.L., Washington, D.C.

A — Have a lawyer look at your lease. While few leases are the same, many include a clause in which the landlord assumes the responsibility for maintenance repairs costing more than $50 or $100. Beyond such a clause, the only definite obligation your landlord has is to insure that the house or apartment in question is habitable within the framework of the local laws.

If, for example, your faulty drain violates local housing codes, you are not responsible for the bill. Your local housing administration can send an inspector out to check for possible violations.

In the future, you should have a lawyer go over any lease before you sign. He can make sure who pays the bills and under what circumstances.

Birth Control Methods Vary Greatly in Safety

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am about to be married and my mother has told me that if I douche after intercourse it will prevent pregnancy. She says douching is much safer than using birth control items that are on the market. As I wish to work after marriage, I wish you would tell me if this is true or not.

Dear Reader — You could get some protection from a douche, but not nearly enough. I cannot recommend this as a very satisfactory method of birth control.

If you are looking for an absolutely safe birth control method, from a health point of view, there is no better substitute than abstinence at the critical period. This phase can be identified fairly accurately with oral temperatures recorded daily. There are only a few days each month that abstinence is necessary to affect birth control.

Then, of course, there are the pill and the intra-uterine device or loop. Both of these methods have been successful and actually have created a minimal number of problems.

For something that is so important to your life and your future, it seems to me that you really ought to have a good discussion with your family doctor at the beginning of your married life.

It should be added that for married couples that already have all the family they plan to have, the most effective, cheapest and least dangerous procedure is the vasectomy procedure for the male.

Dear Dr. Lamb — This may sound strange, but I really don't know. Is it possible for a girl (20) to attempt the act and afterwards find blood, but not be aware of any discomfort and still be a virgin?

Dear Reader — This probably depends upon one's definition of a virgin. I am not sure, however, what difference it really makes. The important considerations are the effects on your emotional outlook, like self-esteem and guilt reactions, the question of venereal disease and pregnancy.

I should think, under the circumstances you have described, that it would be possible to be sufficiently emotionally involved to not be aware of all the events that may have transpired.

Eagles Hatched In Zoo

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — A couple of new babies have some people in this Kansas capital a little popeyed.

The tiny pair, one 9 days old and the other only 6 days old, are believed to be the first American Golden Eagles hatched in captivity in the world.

Proud officials at the Topeka zoo announced the hatchings Monday.

Zoo personnel view the new babies through binoculars from 200 feet and make detailed notes on behaviour for preparation of scientific articles.

The parents have been at the zoo several years on loan from the U.S. Department of Interior.

Zoo Director Gary K. Clarke said the parents began mating about two years ago. However, eggs laid previously by the female did not hatch and apparently were infertile.

The proud parents are pretty busy right now caring for their offspring. Papa takes meat placed in the cage and carries it to mama, who rips it apart and feeds it to the babies.

When mama goes off for exercise or a drink, papa stands guard over the young ones.

The eaglets will be left with the parents for about six months, Clarke said.

New Benefits in 1971—Conclusion

Social Security Trust Fund Staggering

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Tucked away in the flowing mass of Social Security figures is a staggering item: It is conservatively estimated that at the end of 1985, the system's trust fund reserve (excluding Medicare) will reach a whopping $326 billion.

That is well in excess of three-quarters of the present total federal debt, and nearly 50 per cent more than President Nixon's entire projected federal budget for fiscal 1972.

It is being guessed further that Social Security's fund reserves could climb to a monumental $1 trillion by the year 2025.

The estimates have just been made by a special 13-member Advisory Council which made long range Social Security-Medicare recommendations to HEW Secretary Elliot Richardson, who thereupon transmitted them to Congress.

Such a reserve could earn interest somewhere in the range of $15 billion annually. The projected interest payable in fiscal 1971 on the mammoth federal debt is around $18 billion.

The advisory council recommended against the tax rate increases which, most particularly from 1976 on, would send Social Security reserves soaring. The council's contention is that basic Social Security trust funds would be large enough if built to a level where, at the start of a given year, there is money on hand and in immediate prospect that year, to pay all benefits due both that year and the one thereafter.

Some Social Security specialists think the council's arguments will be telling. The feeling is that when Congress gets a real look at the fantastic projections of reserves it will postpone basic Social Security tax rate increases set for 1973 and 1976.

The lawmakers have postponed boosts before. Congress never has been disposed, either, to build a huge excess in the trust funds for payments to old age, survivor and disability beneficiaries. It has tended to regard a modest reserve as an ample safety factor.

Stuff soft pitted prunes with pecan halves. Wrap a half-slice of bacon around each prune. Place stuffed, wrapped prunes in a jelly roll pan and bake in a very hot oven until the bacon is crisp.

Question Demonstrators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many antiwar protesters arrested during last week's demonstrations here have been questioned in their cells by House Internal Security Committee investigators looking for subversive influence in the protests.

A committee spokesman said six or seven staff members may have interviewed as many as hundreds of young people awaiting trial.

Officials say no lawyers were present during the questioning.

Authority for the panel investigators to interview prisoners in a District cellblock and in a makeshift holding compound at Washington Coliseum was given by Capt. Y.H. Garner, administrative assistant to Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson.

Asked whether such authorization was unusual, Garner replied: "There was nothing usual about the whole situation." But, he said, it is police policy to cooperate with congressional committees.

More than 12,000 persons were arrested in the demonstrations last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

A spokesman for the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice, a sponsor of the demonstrations, said the interviews were "blatantly irregular, if not blatantly illegal."

"They (the committee) did it at such a time that none of the lawyers heard about it and none of the judges heard about it," said Frank Greer, a member of the Coalition steering committee.

Greer, who was arrested at a demonstration outside the Capitol Wednesday, said 10 of the 50 or 60 persons in his cellblock Friday were interviewed.

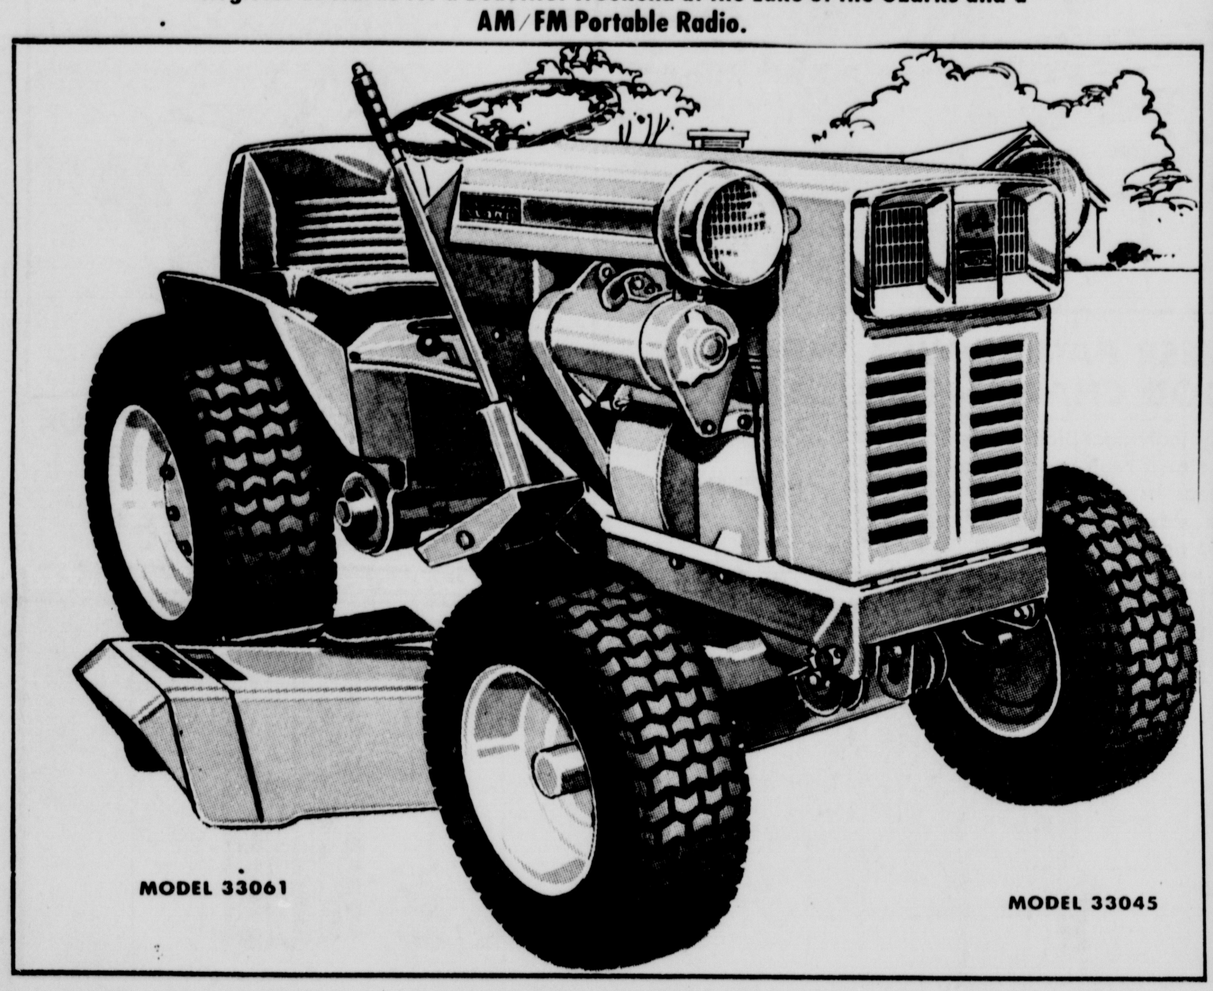

He said the interviews stopped after the word spread down the cellblock that the questioning had nothing to do with legal processing and that the questioners were from a congressional investigating committee.

A committee spokesman said the investigators were looking for demonstrators "who are members of absolute subversive groups, trying to find out how many were there and what they were doing."

Birthday Celebration?

Greg Vargas, a paratrooper in World War II, celebrated his 47th birthday this week by skydiving 47 times from an altitude of 2,000 feet. Vargas is a member of a Sterling, Ill., skydiving club. Three pilots flew a Cessna 172 in shifts as members of the skydiving club packed parachutes to help Vargas reach his goal. (UPI)

German Capital Has Housing Problem

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's federal capital has a king-sized housing headache.

Six crowned heads of state are expected to pay ceremonial visits in coming months, the most impressive parade of royalty since England's Queen Elizabeth stayed here in 1965.

Yet the city's only residence fit for a king, the Hotel Petersberg, has gone out of business and the government has no guest house for VIP visitors permanently at its disposal.

"You may have to bring your own caravan (house trailer) to live in," President Gustav Heinemann joked to Holland's Queen Juliana last year when he invited her to visit.

The jest goes too close to the bone to amuse government officials responsible for housing and royal guests.

The first arrivals will be King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola of Belgium. They will spend the first day of their April 27-29 German state visit in Bonn.

Perhaps the most anxiously awaited couple are Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako of Japan. The emperor arrives October 11 during a European junket which will be the first venture in history outside the land of the rising sun by a reigning Japanese monarch.

A fortnight after his departure Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands are due October 26.

No dates have been set for anticipated visits by Swedish King Gustav V Adolf, King Frederik IX of Denmark and Norway's King Olaf V.

The Belgians—and probably the Dutch and Japanese royal couples as well—will have to make do with the "chancellor's bungalow," the residence in the grounds of the Palais Schaumberg where Chancellor Willy Brandt has his office.

The residence housed Brandt's prodecessors Ludwig Erhard and Kurt Georg Kiesinger but no important state guests have ever stayed there.

Brandt prefers to live in the house he occupied as foreign minister, allowing the chancellor's bungalow to be used for receptions. But his successor might decide to live there.

The house is being refurbished but it remains too small for an entire royal party.

When the Belgian royal couple arrived, their immediate followers will stay in the so-called Palm House in the grounds of President Heinemann's Villa Hammerschmidt. Other staff members will be put up in various hotels.

"The situation is regrettable," a Foreign Ministry protocol spokesman admitted.

Millionaire business Ferdinand Muelhens of "4711" eau de cologne fame built the palatial spa hotel 50 years ago on the highest peak in the Seven Mountains, giving it an eagle's eye-view of the Rhine valley in which nearby Bonn lies.

Pre-war British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain was the hotel's first state guest.

From the end of the last world war until 1952, the hotel was the residence of the three Allied High Commissioners of occupied West Germany.

First post-war chancellor Konrad Adenauer was called to the hotel in 1949 to sign the Petersberg Agreement, the occupation statute which formed the basis of war-ravaged Germany's reconstruction.

The government housed its most important guests there from 1955 to 1969. The long list included England's Queen Elizabeth, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi and Queen Soraya of Iran, former Indian prime minister Pandit Nehru and daughter Indira Gandhi—later to follow in his footsteps—General Charles de Gaulle and the Greek and Thai royal couples.

Ann Landers

Suggestions On Visiting Bereaved

Dear Ann Landers: On occasion you print letters suggesting Do's and Don'ts from people who know the score. Here is a letter which might be of help when you visit a young mother who has lost a baby at birth.

1. DON'T say: "Get pregnant again as soon as you regain your strength." She might not want or be able to get pregnant right away and perhaps she should not do so for medical reasons.

2. DON'T say: "Adopt a baby." I am a social worker and I know that no reputable agency will let a couple adopt a baby just to replace one that died.

3. DON'T play doctor and tell a woman what went wrong or what should have been done to save the baby. You cannot possibly know any of these things.

4. DON'T pass up the opportunity to do something constructive — such as bring a little gift to the other children when you go to call. Remember they are probably disappointed because the promised baby was not brought home.

5. When you visit a woman who has just lost a baby, don't ask questions. Let her lead the conversation. She might want to talk endlessly about her grief — and she might want to talk about everything else but. Real friends understand. — Sally.

Dear Sally: I learn from my readers every day. Thanks for some practical pointers.

Dear Ann Landers: I was married a couple of weeks ago in the apartment of a girl I work with. It was a very small wedding, only 22 people present including the minister. Through some mixup my parents were not invited.

My mother always promised that when I got married she would give me my grandmother's dishes. My parents are not well-to-do but my grandparents were quite rich when they lived in Hungary. I need dishes very badly and would like it very much if my mother would keep her promise.

She is quite cool to me and I want to know what is the best way to remind her. — Bride Without Dishes.

Dear Bride: The casual manner in which you state that your parents were not invited to your wedding due to "some mixup" is interesting indeed. How mixed up can a girl get?

My advice is to buy dishes — whatever you can afford. Your mother will probably give you the china at a later date — after she has recovered from a devastating blow. It might take years.

Dear Ann Landers: I read in a recent column that the last breath of fresh air in the United States disappeared three weeks ago — and it was in Flagstaff, Arizona. I have some news for you, Ann.

Maybe Flagstaff, Arizona is out of fresh air but we still have plenty of it here in Thermopolis, Wyoming. In fact, we have the cleanest, freshest air and the bluest sky in the United States. There's no pollution here. Our sunrises and sunsets are spectacular.

If you don't believe me, please come and see for yourself. It's beyond description. — A Lady Who Lives In Thermopolis And Loves It.

Dear Lady: I just checked the map and I see that Thermopolis is located in north central Wyoming — a two hour drive from National Yellowstone Park, via U. S. 20 and WYO 120. I'm packing.
